Budget Row Perils More State Jobs

"A large number" of engineers employed by the Department of Public Works will be laid off next week "as a result of the Senate's refusal to O.K. the state budget," Public Works Commissioner William T. Callahan announced today.

This layoff, it was stated, will be in addition to the 700 public works employes who are slated to lose their jobs tomorrow.

Callahan's announcement came with Governor Hurley standing pat in the State House on a threat that he will hold the Legislature in session all Summer, if need be, until a substitute budget is formulated and passed.

Billion U. S. Navy Bill To President

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the White House today the administration's billion-dollar naval expansion bill.

The measure, pending in Congress since February, authorizes construction of 46 new fighting ships, 26 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes. Funds to carry out the program must be appropriated later.

Three new battleships and two 20,000-ton aircraft carriers are provided for. The battleships will be limited to 35,000 tons, unless the President finds that larger vessels are necessary in the interest of national defense.

Crossley In Probe Of Death

SAGAMORE, May 13—Suspecting foul play, District Attorney William C. Crossley today began an investigation into the death of Edward (Teddy) Castonguay, three, a short time after his body had been found today.

Discovery of the body in a town filter bed was made by Henry Igerson, 59, of Bourne.

The boy, whose home was in Main street, had been missing since April 16.

Word of the discovery was carried by Igerson to Police Chief William R. Crump, Jr., of Bourne who, after viewing the body, asked a state police probe on suspicion of foul play.

State Detective Ernest S. Bradford and State Police Sergeant Francis M. MacDonald were assigned to the investigation.

Meanwhile an autopsy on the body will be performed by Medical Examiner Ernest F. Curry to learn the cause of death.

The boy, who had been left playing in the yard of his home on April 16, was last seen alive near the south bank of the swift-flowing Cape Cod Canal.

For days a searching party of police, state troopers, CCC boys, firemen, coast guards, Boy Scouts and volunteers beat through the woods and fields in a hunt for the youngster, and powerful searchlights were used on coast guard boats as they made night searches along the canal.

Little Teddy was a son of August Castonguay, local WPA worker. There is another son, August, Jr., 6, and three sisters—Louise, 7; Noella, 9, and Theresa, 19 months, in the family.

West Quits, Ickes Aide Gets His Job

WASHINGTON, May 13 (INS)—In a quick shift of personnel, designed to erase friction within the administration, Undersecretary of the Interior Charles West resigned his post today, and President Roosevelt, at the instigation of Secretary Ickes, appointed Harry Slattery to his place.

Slattery has been Ickes' personal assistant for several years.

Boy Grabs Cash, Flees in Crowd

Busy Tremont street was thrown into excitement this afternoon as a boy, apparently about 12 years old, rifled a downtown variety store cash register of more than $100 and fled through traffic, pursued by a salesgirl.

The boy fled to the Common and escaped.

Feeble Rally Cuts Losses in Shares

NEW YORK, May 13—Stocks retreated in today's market, with leaders posting declines of fractions to around a dollar a share. Timid buying that developed near the close reduced extreme losses, but the rally lacked punch. Volume was light.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., May 13—Mrs. Mary Curley Donnelly, daughter of former Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts, was in a hospital here today, recovering from a severe cold.

Mrs. Donnelly recently flew here from Boston, planning a brief vacation stay.

Lifting of Spanish Arms Ban Shelved

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee responded promptly to Secretary Hull's expressed opposition today by shelving on a 17 to 1 vote the Nye resolution to lift the embargo on arms shipments to Spain.

Hull wrote the committee that "any proposal which contemplates a reversal of our policy of strict non-interference . . . would offer a real possibility of complications."

Chairman Pittman (D) of Nevada of the foreign relations committee said the committee's action meant action on the Nye resolution had been "postponed indefinitely." This usually is tantamount to killing a resolution.

LATER REVISION

It was not immediately disclosed which member of the foreign relations group had voted against delaying action.

Pittman said he thought it was a fair assumption that the language of Secretary Hull's communication indicated that the State Department is considering possible later revision of the neutrality act."

Pittman said he had arranged to permit Senator Nye (R) of North Dakota, who now is out of the city, to appear before the committee next week to make any statement he wishes on behalf of the resolution.

The Nevada Senator, asserted however, it was highly unlikely that the committee would reconsider its action.

INSUFFICIENT TIME

Reconsideration of the present neutrality legislation, Hull's letter said, should be delayed until effects of the law can be viewed in its broader aspects "rather than to rewrite it piece meal in relation to a particular situation."

"It is evident," Hull wrote the committee, "that there is not sufficient time to give study to such questions in the closing days of this Congress."

The Nye resolution would have called for repeal of the Congressional act placing an embargo on arms shipments to Spain as well as modification of the law to permit the President to revoke the embargo he proclaimed under it.

Court Behind Times, Wallace Tells Hughes

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Secretary Wallace has told Chief Justice Hughes that a Supreme Court decision invalidating an agriculture department order not only reversed the court's stand two years ago, but was 20 months behind a similar change in procedure instituted voluntarily by the department.

The secretary's views were made public today in an unprecedented letter to the chief justice dated May 3, a week after the court decision.

Wallace wrote that the case involved originated during the Hoover administration under a law signed by President Harding. It concerned an order reducing commission rates in the Kansas City livestock market. The Supreme Court invalidated the order on the ground that the commission men were not permitted to rebut findings of fact by an Agricultural Department examiner.

Belgian Cabinet Quits in Tax Row

BRUSSELS, May 13 (AP)—The Belgian Cabinet, headed by Premier Paul Emile Janson, resigned today after five and a half months in office. The resignation was due to differences over the government's tax proposals, designed to balance the budget.

A Crown For Hitler?

By ALFRED TYRNAUER

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

PARIS, May 13—Persistent rumors that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler ultimately intends to climax his Napoleonic career by crowning himself Emperor of Germany and Austria were revived today.

An unimpeachable authority disclosed to this correspondent that the Fuehrer has taken to Berlin from Vienna the crown, sword and other regalia once worn by Charlemagne, greatest of the Holy Roman emperors and original coordinator of Central Europe.

For centuries the relics of Charlemagne had reposed in state in the Austrian capital, treasured as momentoes of one of the greatest reigns known to history.

Well-informed authorities could ascribe no reason for Hitler's action other than that at some future date he hopes to cap his Nazi career and perhaps perpetuate a brown shirt dynasty by enthroning himself as Adolf I, Emperor of Austria and Germany.

HAPSBURGS ALARMED

Most concerned over this startling possibility naturally are the Hapsburgs, whose ancestors ruled Austria for four centuries but who since the German absorption of Austria have been driven from pillar to post by the Nazis.

Of the whole Hapsburg family, the largest royal house in Europe, only one member of importance seems to have made peace with the Nazis. He is the Archduke Anton, who filfilled family tradition by marrying royalty as the spouse of Princess Ileana of Rumania.

The others have been arrested or exiled by the Hitler regime, or removed themselves from the political and dynastic picture by marrying commoners.

OTTO IN EXILE

Archduke Otto, the pretender to the throne, is in exile at Steenockerzeel, Belgium, with a warrant charging high treason hanging over his head and preventing him, at least for duration of the Nazi regime, ever from entering Austria again.

It is regarded as significant that Hitler lost no time in taking action against any members of the Hapsburg clan that by word, action or mere position of importance might have constituted a threat to his imperialistic domination of his newly-won empire.

Observers point out that there is no reason why the Fuehrer should have removed the Charlemagne relics from Vienna unless he intends to make use of them.

HITLER MOVE — Removing the crown of Charlemagne from Vienna to Berlin. Fuehrer Hitler today had set tongues wagging as to whether he planned to crown himself with the symbolic crown and proclaim himself king. Crowned Charlemagne is shown above.

Lindbergh Stirs British Air Plans

Warns Germany Tops World in Warcraft

By WILLIAM HILLMAN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright 1938)

LONDON—May 13—A warning by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh that Germany is far outstripping both the United States and Great Britain in airplane production was a major factor in prodding Britain to, treble her aircraft output, it was learned today.

Britain's laggard industry, so far behind that airplane purchases are planned in America and Canada, will be so accelerated that this country will have 3500 first-line flying fighters by March, 1940, the air ministry informed the House of Commons.

The conservative-minded House of Lords at the same time listened to a bold scheme of Viscount Swinton, the air minister, to fly a vast air armada across the Atlantic from Canada in the event of war.

LINDY ALARMED 'EM

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

Colonel Lindbergh gave his alarming counsel about the Reich's strides in the air to a group of important British officials.

The famous American flier, who has been living in England for several years, said the present output of the German aviation industry

3500 Flying Fighters In 1940 London's Aim is greater than the airplane production of the United States and Great Britain combined.

Great Britain, said Colonel Lindbergh, is "far from parity" with Germany in air power.

Lindberg's warning was echoed in Parliament, where the government's program was called "hopeless and inadequate."

PROMISES QUICK ACTION

Even the government admitted production has been disappointing. In a speech before conservative women at Albert Hall, Prime Minister Chamberlain said he "personally had intervened" in the air armament industry.

He promised the nation would shortly see "a most remarkable and satisfactory increase" in manufacture.

Lord Swinton advised the peers:

"His Majesty's government is investigating aircraft production possibilities in Canada with a view to having planes flown to England in war time."

Suicide's Widow Flies From Reno

Baby Rallies in Battle To Cheat Death Here

Apparent improvement in the condition of five-months-old Paul Donahue of Malden, whose life is threatened by a tumor of the foot, encouraged his parents today.

They said they felt, more strongly that ever, that circumstances did not justify amputation of the child's leg even though some medical authorities had held that such an operation afforded the little patient's best chance of recovery.

FEARS AMPUTATION

"If we could be sure Paul's life would be saved by sacrifice of his leg, that would be one thing," said the mother, Mrs. John J. Donahue, Jr., of Webster street, Malden. "But results of the amputation might not be advantageous.

"The baby has gained strength in the past 72 hours and seems to be very much improved in his general condition. I am encouraged and hopeful."

As she spoke she held her other son, three-year-old Jackie, close to her heart. He is her greatest comfort in her present time of trial and worry.

SAY KNIFE VITAL

In Massachusetts Memorial Hospital today little Paul played cheerfully with a bright-colored rattle and viewed with wide, unworried eyes the strange but interesting world in which he finds himself, with nobody to explain to him what all the fuss is about.

McCarthy Gives Views on Aged Care

AMHERST, May 13 (AP)—A declaration that care of the aged has ceased to be a "purely local" problem, and has come to stay as a "national" problem, was made here today by Commissioner Walter V. McCarthy of the Massachusetts Department of Public Welfare.

He spoke at the opening of the third conference on current government at Massachusetts State College.

Tragedy in Girl's Room Brings Mrs. Wilde Home

Mrs. Winifred Graustein Wilde of Cambridge today was winging her way back from Reno, Nev., silent in grief over the suicide death of her husband, Marcellus Wilde, who died in the Back Bay apartment of his young girl protege.

FRIEND OF SUICIDE—Alice C. Tripp, 21, of Beacon street, said Marcellus E. Wilde, Harvard graduate and World War aviator, walked in, apologized for "mussing up her rug," then shot himself to death.

Mrs. Wilde, said to have been separated from her husband, heard of the tragedy in a telephone message from Miss Alice Carolyn Tripp, 21, pretty brunette, in whose apartment Wilde dramatically ended his life.

Within an hour Mrs. Wilde was speeding on the 3000-mile flight home. She will arrive in Boston tonight.

OFFERS APOLOGY

Wilde, 43-year-old clubman and World War ace, took his life in a sudden mood of exhibitionism. He had telephoned to Miss Tripp, one of a half-dozen young girls the dead flier had educated.

"Hello, Al," was his greeting when he walked into the apartment at Beacon and Clarendon streets.

"I am sorry to muss up your place," was his apology before he drew a revolver and fired a shot into his brain.

To the police, the horrified girl told of her fondness for both Wilde and his wife. She said she had known them for years as "Uncle" and "Auntie" after they had accepted her as a protege several years ago.

WIRE FROM WIFE

Police also had a telegram today which Wilde received from his wife at Reno. It read:

"Arrived here today. Everything fine."

It was signed "Winifred."

Wilde enlisted in the Lafayette Escadrille as a student at Harvard and was shell-shocked in France. In recent years he had been interested in philanthropies following a large inheritance from a relative in Rochester, N. Y.

Mrs. Wilde, a sister of Prof. William Graustein of Harvard University, lived at 7 Arlington street, Cambridge. Her husband made his home with his father-in-law, Adolphus Graustein of 19 Arlington street.

Girl Back of Kennedy Girls' Success

Betty Dunn Makes Good at Court

Nobody at Emerson College or down Rockland way was surprised at the success the charming daughters of Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy scored this week on the occasion of their presentation at the Court of St. James.

Former classmates, teachers and neighbors of Elizabeth Ardelia Dunn of Rockland and of Emerson's graduating class of 1936 could tell you everything just had to go right at that presentation ceremony in Buckingham palace.

BETTY'S GOOD WORK

For behind the scenes, in the Kennedy residence in London, Betty Dunn is living up to her college and home reputation as a champion "fixer" and manager.

Official "portfolio" of Miss Dunn is that of private secretary to Mrs. Rose Kennedy, wife of the ambassador and daughter of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald.

But Mrs. Kennedy would be the first one to assure you that Betty Dunn's self-assumed duties are far more than secretarial.

Upon her own capable and shapely shoulders, Betty has taken many of the minor domestic responsibilities of Mrs. Kennedy's increasingly busy days.

ELIZABETH DUNN
Embassy Chaperon

Betty supervises doctors' and dentists' appointments for the Kennedy children, chaperones the older girls, supervises wardrobes and plays a sort of all-round role as tutor, companion, older sister and maiden aunt for the Kennedys.

Betty is the daughter of Dr. Michael J. Dunn of Rockland.

At Emerson College she was active in dramatics and athletics, sometimes as an active participant, often as an effficient manager.

She managed herself an introduction to Mrs. Kennedy, when the latter was at Hyannisport. Then Betty managed to get herself that "secretarial" job, at which she has managed to be highly successful ever since.

BETTY'S GREAT WORK

Neither Betty nor her friends, of course, would claim her services were needed to enhance the natural charm and social grace of the Kennedy daughters. But one thing was sure:

There was no least tiny detail of their costumes lacking when they set off, on that night of nights, for Buckingham Palace to courtesy before England's king and queen.

Our correspondent, Deputy Health Commissioner Frank J. Baily, tips us that seven-year-old Carole, as pretty as her Hollywood namesake, has definitely broken with parotitis, known around the town as "mumps."

When the deputy commissioner first heard that Carole Lombard had the mumps (parotitis to you) he kept her at home for two weeks.

But now, she says, "mumps" and her career could NEVER get along together. You may see her back on the Bartlett terrace, Roxbury, "set" today with a supporting cast of dolls, tricycle and lollypop.

U. S. Leads Foes, 4-0 In Mimic Air War

By JOSEPH CARTER
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

Swift thrusts by bombers and attack planes in the first night battles of the army's "ghost war" today found Uncle Sam leading the enemy invader by a technical maneuver score of 4 to 0.

In a mass flight to Maine during the night, a squadron of planes loaded with deadly missives passed near Boston, routed a theoretical attempt of the invaders to land forces at Bootbay Harbor, then flew back to Mitchel Field.

Like pawns in a giant chess game another detail of planes zoomed through the night skies to smash at the enemy off North Carolina, to offset advances made by the "Black" forces yesterday when they ruined eastern airports.

Simultaneously, reports from the flying fortresses indicated decisive victories in battles with aircraft carriers far at sea. Demolition bombs weighing 1100 pounds churned the ocean in giant explosions.

PLANES DOWNED

Nearly a dozen invisible enemy bombers which threatened to blast cities of the Connecticut valley, following the raids on East Boston and Rhode Island state airports, were riddled by United States bullets late yesterday.

Air force officers stated these successes, however, were preliminary skirmishes to the huge struggle due in a few days, when enemy strength by air and sea converge on New England.

Scouting planes just in from the south brought news of invading forces holding key Chesapeake Bay islands and fresh attempts of the enemy to sweep across Maine and Massachusetts revealed flank movements which threaten to snare the U. S. air force concentration.

CAMOUFLAGED

With invading planes coming at once from north and south, officers prepared today to break the giant pincers before a major battle develops.

Patrol planes, carriers and bombers in the Berkshire country were set to soar to northern conflicts. Most of the ships at New Haven and Westfield were colored like the forests.

Great bombers flying over the ocean, such as those which will visit Boston Sunday, are camouflaged so perfectly that observers cannot distinguish them from sky and water.

Powers Agree To Deliver Arms to China

GENEVA, May 13 (AP)—Chinese sources said today China had obtained from League powers, particularly Britain and France, an agreement for credits for purchase of arms and also assurance of aid in getting the arms into China.

Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, China's suave delegate to the League of Iations Council, was said to have obtained the agreements in behind the scenes negotiations.

Details were not announced to the council and arrangements concerning safe delivery of the arms in China—for use in the war against Japan—were said to be secret.

Dr. Koo was understood to have rejected earlier offers of credits and insisted on receiving also pledges that the powers would see that the munitions purchased reached Chinese territory safely through Britain's Hongkong or France's Indo-China.

The council named a committee of five — delegates of Britain, France, China, Soviet Russia and Rumania—to draft a resolution reaffirming previous league declarations on China's war with Japan and also a new statement of sympathy for China to be acted on later by the full council.

Air Bombs Kill 60 More In Barcelona

BARCELONA, May 13 (AP)—Bombed twice in 19 hours, this capital of Government Spain today counted 60 dead and about 150 wounded as the cost of a new wave of Insurgent aerial attacks.

A dozen persons were killed and 40 injured this morning when six big Junkers swept in from the Mediterranean at about 16,000 feet, split into two groups and bombed the southern portion of the city.

Many bombs fell into the sea but caused casualties even there, for 20 men and women, gathering mussels, were wounded.

An unfinished concrete refuge was struck. The explosion ripped the concrete, killing one and injuring others.

Fortanete, Key Point, Falls to Insurgents

HENDAYE, France, May 13 (AP)—The Insurgent fifth division today captured Fortanete, key point in the crescent-shaped front between Teruel and the Mediterranean on which the Insurgents are driving southward toward Castellon de la Plana and Valencia.

Fortanete, halfway point on the 85-mile line from Teruel to the sea, fell to Navarrese troops, which have captured nearly 600 square miles in three days.

Blocks Nazis' London Coup

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 13—Czechoslovakia threw its full diplomatic weight today against an attempt by Konrad Henlein to win British support for the German minority within Czechoslovakia.

With speedy, determined action, Jan Masaryk, Czech minister, successfully blocked Henlein's attempts to talk with high British officials.

Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Nazi party in Czechoslovakia, had to content himself with a luncheon attended by Winston Churchill and Sir Archibald Sinclair, leaders in the conservative and anti-government liberal parties.

Masaryk, formerly attached to the Washington legation, who is the son of the late president of Czechoslovakia, was victor in the first clashes of a diplomatic duel.

Upon learning that Henlein sought an interview with Sir Robert Vansittart, chief diplomatic adviser to the government, Masaryk dashed to the foreign office and expressed the hope Britain would not engage in direct discussions with Henlein.

The foreign office replied that there has never been any intention on the part of the government to approach Henlein directly.

Miss Moffett Career Girl

Seeks Fame as Singer 'On Her Own'; Really Serious She Says

By ANN MARSTERS

Adelaide Moffett is the girl with the blond hair and brown eyes who is singing at the Ritz Roof. She is also the girl about whom so much has been written in the name of "Society," for her father is the wealthy James A. Moffett, former Federal housing commissioner.

There have been long columns about her romantic escapades; about the objections of her father to her singing career; about her popularity and charm. And then, less than two years ago, there were the tragic headlines about the death of her young husband, David "Winkie" Brooks who fell from the window of their New York apartment four months after their marriage.

But all that is definitely in the past, and Adelaide Moffett is now a career girl. And she doesn't, above all things want to become known as a "society singer."

FATHER APPROVES NOW

"I'm really serious about my singing career," she said. "I want to make a success of it, but I want to do so on my own. I don't want to trade on my father's name."

She began her career as a night club singer last December, with Dick Gasparee's orchestra at the Ambassador Hotel in New York. Now, with the same orchestra, she will remain in Boston four weeks. Her father, incidentally, no longer objects.

"I really do need to work," she said, "in spite of what people think. For one thing, I can use the money. Yes—my father gives me an allowance, but the money I earn helps to pay for my clothes, my rent, and my maid. And for another thing, the work keeps me busy, and keeps my mind occupied.

"I'm certainly not interested in an endless round of social activities and light romances. That wouldn't be any fun, anymore. There's 'Winkie' to thing about."

She made a gesture toward the photographs of "Winkie" which she had placed on the desk in her room at the Ritz Carlton.

"TORCH" SINGER TYPE

Adelaide is a tall girl—"five feet, seven inches," she said, "in my stocking feet." She has a deep, husky quality in her voice, and a rather languid manner. Her hair is worn long, almost to her shoulders, and is curled under in a page-boy effect. She has, for lack of a better word, that she's the "torch" singer type, not a "swing" singer.

Her popularity with college students is undeniable, and the young men of Harvard have been flocking to the Ritz Roof to gaze admiringly at Adelaide. But Adelaide hasn't, as yet, formed a counter-opinion.

"This is my first trip to Boston," she said, "and I don't know a single Harvard student—nor anyone else around Boston. 'Winkie' went to Harvard for a while—but all the men in my family are Princetonites."

At present, the only real goal in her life is, she said, to make good as a radio singer. And she's hoping that some important, interested sponsor will come knocking at her door.

Blonde and talented Adelaide Moffett, daughter of former Federal Housing Commissioner James A. Moffett, who has quit gaieties of society for career of radio singer. She is scoring big hit with Dick Gasparee's orchestra at Ritz Roof. It is her first visit to Boston. She styles self a "torch singer"

Timilty Gets Warrants for Graves Arrest

Indictment warrants for the arrest of Frederick H. Graves, who was a witness for the city of Boston in its suit against former Governor James M. Curley and Dr. Joseph Santosuosso, were sent to Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty today by Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle of Suffolk county.

The warrants charge Graves with perjury and larceny of $30,000. One warrant is based on Graves' alleged admission that he falsified statements before the finance commission. Another concerns testimony in superior court.

With the delivery of the warrants, the police department sent out 5000 photographs of Graves, who vanished November 20, 1937.

THRIFTMODE SHOPS sizes 11 to 17

Here's a sweetheart if there ever was one! In fact, we fell so completely in love with it that we've had it made up in four versions. You'll adore it too because it nips in to show your ever-so-tiny waist . . . knowing tucks at the shoulder give flattering fullness . . . and the slim skirt flares gracefully at the hem. We've even added a matching slip to complete the pretty picture and add a final note of value!

Austria Pushes Bill to Curb Jewish Trade

BUDAPEST, March 13 (AP)—The Hungarian government's anti-Jewish bill which would restrict Jewish participation in trade, industry and the professions of at most 20 per cent was passed by acclamation today in the Chamber of Deputies.

Approval by the upper house was regarded as assured. Enactment would mean that some 30,000 Jews would lose their jobs in the five-year period allotted for putting the 20 per cent principle into effect.

The bill was criticized during debate on the grounds that Jews, who constitute five per cent of Hungary's population, still would be unjustly favored if permitted to retain 20 per cent of the employment.

(Hungary's population in the 1930 census was 8,683,740.)

Meanwhile Premier Koloman Daranyi summoned his cabinet today for what may be its last session.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP) — Chairman Doughton (D.) of North Carolina, of the House ways and means committee, expressed doubt today that Congress would act this session on President Roosevelt's request for elimination of tax-exempt federal and state securities.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 13 (AP) — Ramsey Black, third assistant postmaster-general, said today he was campaigning for Thomas Kennedy, CIO-backed candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, with the "full consent" of Postmaster-General James Farley.

PARIS, May 13 (AP)—Nomination of a French ambassador to Italy within a few days was forecast today in diplomatic quarters as a consequence of the action of the League of Nations council freeing members to acknowledge King Vittorio Emanuele as emperor of Ethiopia.

GENEVA, May 13 (AP)—Co-ordination of the work of President Roosevelt's forthcoming international refugee conference and that of the League of Nations was discussed today by Leland Harrison, American minister of Switzerland, and Dr. A. Costa du Reis of Bolivia, chairman of the League committee for assistance of refugees.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration advised farmers today that refusal to co-operate with the voluntary corn acreage reduction program probably would make compulsory control measures necessary at harvest time.

ALGIERS, May 13 (AP)—Two army fliers were seriously injured today in the fourth French military plane crash in three days.

SEATTLE, May 13 (AP)—Peace returned to Seattle and Tacoma ports today when the sailors' union of the Pacific accepted a 10-day truce in a dispute with employers that had tied up all American shipping at both places.

HELSINGFORS, May 13 (AP)—Finland today recognized the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

BERLIN, May 13 (INS)—In a move aimed at wooing Hungary into Europe's expanding Nazi ramp, German Admiral Erich Raeder today officially invited Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Hungarian regent, to attend the launching of a new German warship shortly.

Freed in Theft, Rebuked For Blonde Widow Backer

Clifton J. Ryan, young Everett truckman, was cleared of larceny charges today in municipal court, but not until he was rebuked sharply by the court for paying less attention to his wife adn family than to a wealthy blonde widow.

The widow is Mrs. May Schweinert of New York, who had charged that Ryan repaid her financing his business by stealing her automobile and "holding out" $400 when he pawned some of her jewels for $2000.

Widow of the wealthy Charles A. Schweinert, head of an internationally-known tire valve manufacturing concern, Mrs. Schweinert testified that she met Ryan when he smiled at her in a Washington, D. C., hotel lobby.

Lobster dinners which she said she gave to Ryan, and trips to Florida, to secure a $70,000 bracelet, journeys to Boston and to New York to pawn more gems figured in her testimony.

MRS. MAY SCHWEINERT

While she testified before Judge Frank Tomasello, Mrs. Schweinert wore a number of valuable pieces of jewelry, including a diamond brooch said to be worth $5000.

In his testimony, Ryan denied the theft charges. He said the $400 she accused him of taking was used to pay interest charges on a $1500 loan for jewelry pledged in New York, and that the car was disabled and is still in an Everett garage.

Magazine Fights Birth Photo Ban

The second complaint in Massachusetts relative to the sale of the April 11 issue of a pictorial magazine was aerd again today in East Cambridge Court, where Charles B. Jackson, general manager of the magazine, described the birth pictures as "healthy."

Frederick Cahaly, a Cambridge storekeeper, is the defendant in charges of selling obscene literature.

Jackson told Judge Arthur P. Stone that physicians, medical and social organizations would back up his statement.

Lopez Denies Anthem 'Streamline'

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Vincent Lopez has not streamlined the "Star Spangled Banner." He says so.

Orchestra Leader Lopez has revised the anthem—as part of a movement to widen its popular appeal—but he has injected "not a single note of syncopation." The rewritten song is "singable, not swingable."

So he advised President Roosevelt today in a telegram replying to a protest lodged at the White House yesterday by a delegation of ten composers, singers and orchestra leaders headed by Kay Kyser. The petition they left in Washington accused Lopez of "streamlining" the anthem.

"We don't want any swingbugs and swing artists changing this patriotic song," said Kyser.

Lopez advised the President that the changes he advocates "merely eliminate the difficult high notes" and preserve "the basic melodies." Moreover, he added, "the changes are hardly noticeable after the song is sung a few times."

They Would Not Sit and Wait

A distinguished professor of economics with an international reputation remarked recently that the pricing policies of business men would have more to do with ending the depression than anything that government did or did not do.

The inherent soundness of this idea has been demonstrated by enterprising Boston firms which have undertaken, by offering bargains practically without profit, to do what they can to stimulate consumer purchasing, thereby creating more jobs in the manufacturing industries making the products distributed.

This method, it should be emphasized, is the one by which depressions have been conquered in the past. The farsighted undertaking by the local firms met with outstanding success. Customers got bargains. Sales people got jobs. Manufacturers moved stock and had to hire more workers to make new goods.

The local concerns decided not to wait for some economic magic to get goods moving. In their own sphere, these concerns did and do their bit, with the knowledge that money circulating through the channels of trade comes back with interest. Everybody benefits.

Kane's thanks the Traveler for their editorial (above) published April 20, as a direct result of Kane's drive.

Kane's thanks Leopold Morse for their cooperation in the drive (as evidenced by their ad of May 8, below).

Leopold Morse Co.

Every time a cash register rings a sale, it helps keep unemployment UP • DOWN

Kane's thanks the Globe for launching a Prosperity Drive series of their own as shown above. (Published April 22.)

Here's action for you —of one touching low price!
25

Bond's on April 29 said "Keep prices down, keep quality up. Keep men at work." Kane's thanks Bond's for their cooperation.

THE DRIVE TO LOWER PRICES ORIGINATED BY KANE'S IS SWEEPING NEW ENGLAND!

Newspapers, Civic Organizations, Other Retailers Are Adopting It.

Kane's is PROUD to Have Been the Inspiration for This Concerted Effort to Promote N. E. Prosperity and Thanks All Who Have Cooperated—Because:

1. Kane's believes that the GREATER the values that are offered . . .
2. The MORE institutions that cooperate . . .
3. The SOONER crowds will start buying and create a demand for new goods, start factories humming and men working.

The approval of so many great N. E. institutions—and the CROWDS who have thronged Kane's stores since the inauguration of this drive on April 8 are PROOF of the soundness of the Kane plan and of the amazing values being offered at Kane's. Kane will continue to do everything in its power to offer LOWER PRICES—to sacrifice normal profits—to offer savings of 30% to 50%, and more in a mighty effort to sell more goods—put men at work—and promote prosperity. Watch for the symbol below—it means a chance for you to save—and to help bring back prosperity besides.

??? HELPS KEEP NEW ENGLAND FACTORIES HUMMING
When New England factories hum, New England men and women are busy making money. The more they make, the more they have to spend. This means a happy, healthy New England.

Kane's expresses its thanks to a large Boston department store for cooperating in the drive, as shown above (April 27).

The above examples of cooperation in the Drive to Promote N. E. Prosperity are but a few of many that have appeared recently.

130 Sects Draft World Union Of Churches

UTRECHT, The Netherlands, May 13 (AP)—An historic church document aimed at the most far-reaching union of Christian churches since the Reformation emerged today from a world conference of Churchmen representing 130 Protestant denominations.

The document is the draft of a constitution, approved unanimously by 75 delegates from 20 nations including the United States, for the first world council of churches in history.

It will be submitted at once to all participating churches by the Archbishop of York, who presided at the five-day conference.

CATHOLICS STAY OUT

An accompanying letter will ask the churches to unite in the organization for "the fellowship of churches which accept Our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour" and send delegates to the proposed council meeting.

Delegates here represented directly about 32 denominations but they spoke also as the elected representatives of 130 Protestant bodies.

A council meeting every five years and an annual meeting of a central committee would be open to all Christian churches.

The Roman Catholic Church, however, has taken no steps to participate in the movement.

SIX-POINT PLAN

The constitution prescribed these functions for the council:

1—To carry on the work of the two world-wide movements for faith and order and for life and work; (these two organizations, the Oxford Conference on Life and Work and the Edinburgh Conference on Faith and Order, arranged for call of the conference.)

2—To facilitate common action by churches;

3—To promote co-operation and study;

4—To promote the growth of ecumenical (world-wide) consciousness in members of all churches;

5—To establish relations with denominational federation of world-wide scope and with other ecumenical movements;

6—To call world conferences on specific subjects as the occasion may require, such conferences being empowered to publish their own findings.

Tobin Names Secretary

Between wrist flickings and the flecks of lather, Mayor Tobin today announced appointment of Harold Cadwell, 36, of Parker street, Roxbury, as chief outside secretary in the executive offices at $3000.

It was the daily press conference, and because he has been rushed by business and social engagements, the mayor was taking the opportunity of shaving while talking to the scribble-boys.

Cadwell, said the mayor, is single and he will replace one of the present secretaries who, it was hinted, is headed for a better job.

Everett Girl, 15, Secret Bride

Everett school officials investigating the attendance record of pretty 15-year-old Ethel Cooper, high school sophomore, today discovered that she had been married since April 28 to Herman Hoffman, 20, Everett milk driver.

The young bride admitted she married Hoffman at Seabrook, N. H., and that her mother, Mrs. Charles Dailey, was a witness to the ceremony.

Mrs. Dailey concurred with her daughter's testimony and said that now the wedding is known she would permit the girl to leave school.

FIRE FIGHTERS SAVE

Fire Commissioner Reilly today announced substantial savings have been made in the Boston fire department during the first four months of this year.

Bobcat Trailed

ROCHESTER, N. H., May 13 —Hunters today scoured the woodlands here for a bobcat which killed Mrs. Raymond Lincoln when she found it eating ... of her choice chickens. Smarting a warning, the bobcat completed his meal. When Mrs. Lincoln fled, he jumped over a wire fence and ran.

Budget Crisis Perils More State Jobs

...ation of being "on relief" or "on the bag." Public Works Commissioner Callahan said:

"The Department of Public Works, under the law, can not make any contracts for these types of work, which affect so many small cities and towns, until an appropriation has been made by the legislature," he declared.

Also held up by delays still in State and to counties and municipalities under Chapter 90

WAITED 4 MONTHS

Any money allotted by army or local authorities or Callahan said could not be regarded as assured on their own responsibility.

"The Department of Public Works has waited four months for a budget," the commissioner stated, "and still doesn't know how much the Legislature is going to allot for highway work.

"A large number of engineers of this department have completed the work they have been engaged in and will have to await passage of a budget before doing additional work."

WHOLE DRAFT BUDGET

"We want the whole program of our programs until late November or DeDecember, which will result in additional expense because of weather conditions.

"Our program of state aid to smaller towns under Chapter 90 should have been launched already, as warm weather is construction season.

UP TO LEGISLATURE

"It cannot be a matter of however," he added, "of importance to the people of this State."

"I've submitted my budget message, and it is now up to Legislature—must I say more. There is nothing further I can do, or that I can do."

PLAN OWN BUDGET

Meanwhile, the House Ways and Means Committee, headed by Rep. Joseph E. Warner of Boston, is working on the budget. Has announced that it will go up to the Legislature early in June, ready to start its work on the budget.

Public hearings on the budget will be held by the Committee on Ways and Means, beginning May 24, to give all interested parties a chance to be heard on the budget. Has announced that it will go up to the Legislature early in June, ready to start its work on the budget.

It is understood that the Committee has the interest of the public at heart, and that it will not be influenced by the outcry of the Governor, if it feels that the budget is not in the best interests of the public.

Senator to Urge Probe of Relief

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—Senator King (D.) of Utah told the Senate today he would ask shortly a congressional investigation of the administration of relief under Harry Hopkins, Works Progress administrator.

King made his statement after Senator McCarran (D.) of Nevada said "no one dares to ask an investigation of WPA."

McCarran said that if he controlled relief matters all funds would be spent under Secretary Ickes and the Public Works Administration.

"Then no one would point a public finger of scorn," McCarran said, as he lauded Ickes' administration of PWA.

When King said he would ask the WPA inquiry, McCarran said in an undertone:

"It won't get very far."

Anti-Administration Senators demanded restrictions today on President Roosevelt's control over the $3,000,000,000 relief and public works fund voted by the House in a noisy night session.

Senator Byrd (D.) of Virginia, frequent Deal critic, conferred with colleagues on the possibility of "earmarking" the "pump priming" bill to limit uses to which the money could be put.

APPROVAL 329 TO 70

Democratic leaders, retaining hopes of mid-June adjournment, expected Senate passage of the bill in another week.

The House approved the measure, 329 to 70, after an unsuccessful three-day fight by Republicans to modify it. Twenty-five Republicans voted for the bill while 11 Democrats were among

The bill appropriates $1,250,000,000 for WPA work relief, $965,000,000 for a new public works program under PWA, $175,000,000 for rehabilitation of needy farmers, $75,000,000 for the National Youth Administration and $25,000,000 for federal public buildings.

Blaze on Liner President Polk

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13 (INS)—Scores of firefighters and two fireboats battled today to subdue a fire in two holds of the Dollar Line round the world liner President Polk.

One hundred and eight longshoremen working in the holds scrambled to safety when the fire started.

Fear Bay State Soldiers Drowned

Two privates at Fort Ethan Allen in Burlington, Vt., Leonard Dullea, 22, of Peabody, and Rocco Duca, 23, of Framingham, were believed to have drowned today following discovery of their overturned boat on Lake Champlain near Burlington.

Search for the pair was begun when they failed to appear at roll-call. They had left on a fishing expedition Wednesday.

Ban on Baths Costs a Wife

Everything was fine in the Sibley household until her husband required a complex against baths and brushing his teeth, Mrs. Velma L. Smalley testified today in Norfolk Probate court in winning a separation decree.

She told Judge Joseph L. McCoole that as a result of this complex she sometimes could not stay in the same room with William E. Smalley, whom she married at Quincy, October 30, 1929.

Once when she insisted on him leaving the room, she said, he struck her, and at other times he was cruel.

Mrs. Smalley waived alimony claims, but was given custody of their year-old daughter and $5 a week toward the girl's support.

Eastern Roads Ask Fare Boost Again

WASHINGTON, May 13 (INS)—Eastern railroads today petitioned the ICC to reconsider its decision of April 4 last denying their application for authority to increase passenger coach fares from two cents to two and one-half cents per mile. The railroads asked that the case be reopened for reargument.

Roosevelt Denies Spend Plan Failed

WASHINGTON, May 13 (INS)—Denying his original spending program had failed, as charged by political opponents, President Roosevelt declared today the administration was seeking a formula to accompany the new program which would eliminate errors encountered thus far.

The President said [illegible] to aid our economic system, but denied the necessity of "starting all over again" and said the government was "on the right track."

Mr. Roosevelt then outlined spending and lending policies for the remainder of the year, including the [illegible] of PWA and WPA funds, and a new commercial way to guard against runaway conditions.

WANTS REVAMPED NRA

He made it clear he was not discussing reenactment of NRA as such but indicated many of the features might be weighed for re-enactment.

Responding to a question as to the size of the Democratic campaign fund, Mr. Roosevelt agreed [illegible] expenditures and a [illegible] increase in prices were positive factors in the current recession.

It was in that connection that he denied his first spending program had failed. Rather he thought it reached down a point that other economic factors ran away with the ball.

The President discussed the administration's [illegible] toward a system of [illegible] regulation of [illegible] possibly [illegible] a month or months.

CENSUS COST $1,966,000

Knees in Needham! What Do Papas Say?

The plebiscite fad today struck Needham, when parents pondered the momentous question of whether or not high school girls should wear ankle socks.

More than 700 parents are scheduled to decide between socks and longer stockings to end once and for all a question which has been controversial for a decade.

Very official looking ballots were issued by Dr. William F. Pollard, principal of Needham high school who has termed the abbreviated sockettes "disgusting."

Trusted with seeing that there are no "repeaters" at the polls is the Rev. Edwin H. Lovell, the retired minister who is a militant leader in the crusade for "short socks and comfort for girls."

The most advanced motor oil on the American market

The running mate of Jenney Solvenized Gasoline —Jenney Solvenoil offers New England motorists important patented advantages.

• Jenney Solvenoil is the modern Extreme Pressure oil, engineered for modern cars, advanced—safe—economical. It has 2 to 5 times the stable film strength of other oils —no car can develop enough pressure to break down its film. It decreases wear. Its higher oiliness factor reduces friction. Jenney Solvenoil has a solvent action on sludge, and it attacks harmful carbon deposits. It insures easy starting and lower oil consumption.

Here Are the Rules

Read Them Carefully!

1. Each week day a scene from a motion picture will be printed in the Boston Evening American until 55 have appeared. One action will be chosen from this scene. Select the name of the motion picture in which the scene appears from the list printed near the picture. Choose the name of one movie player represented in the scene, from the list of names printed on this page.
2. Only one set of answers can be submitted by any one person, but each member of a family may enter and no family will be entitled to win more than one prize.
3. Hold all answers until you have the completed set of 55. DO NOT SEND IN INDIVIDUAL PICTURES.
4. This game is open to all bona fide New England residents except employees of the New England Newspaper Publishing Company and other Hearst Enterprises and members of their families or relatives.
5. Send your entry by first class mail or bring it to Movie Scenes Editor, Boston Evening American, 8 Winthrop Square, Boston Mass P. O. Box 866. All entries must bear sufficient postage to be considered.
6. All solutions must be accompanied by a letter of not more than 50 words on "What my favorite motion picture is and why." The judges will disqualify any contestants whose letters are written so identical in nature as to show collusion. You may select any motion picture for the subject of your letter. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in solving these puzzles. Entries must be in the office of the editor, postmarked not later than midnight, 12th days after the last picture is printed.
7. A committee of judges, appointed by the Boston Evening American, will select the winners in this contest. The contestant by sending a set of solutions indicates acceptance of these Rules and Conditions and agrees that the decision of the judges is final and further agrees that there can be no appeal from the judges' decisions. No entries can be returned. All entries become the property of the Boston Evening American.
8. Awards will be paid to the persons sending in the nearest correctly solved complete set of pictures. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In the event of a tie between or among two or more contestants for any of the prizes, the prize or prizes next in order will be combined in a lump sum and then evenly distributed among those tying.
9. Use of specially prepared lists by outside concerns is strictly prohibited.

When to Watch for Moon's Eclipse Over New England

Clear Weather Forecast for Moon Eclipse

New Englanders will be furnished a rare treat tomorrow morning when the moon becomes completely eclipsed as it moves through the earth's shadow.

Encouraged by a forecast of clear, cloudless weather tomorrow night, astronomers today were preparing their delicate instruments to record the solar show, hoping for some new bit of sky information to add to their exhaustive records.

The show is scheduled to start at 1:44 a. m., the eclipse reaching totality between 4:18 and 5:09 a. m. Though the sun will not rise until 5:45, more than an hour after totality, it is expected the dawn will spoil clear vision in the closing minutes of the eclipse.

ECLIPSE EXPLAINED

Solar experts today explained the minute workings of an eclipse, couching their language in everyday speech understandable to the earth layman. Here's the way it happens:

Since the moon is a globe not self-illuminated as many persons think, but lighted by the sun's rays—only one-half of it can be illumined at one time. The other half is dark and invisible.

If the illuminated half of the moon happens to be turned toward the earth at a given time, the complete circle of light may be seen—this is the full moon phase.

FACES SUN, EARTH

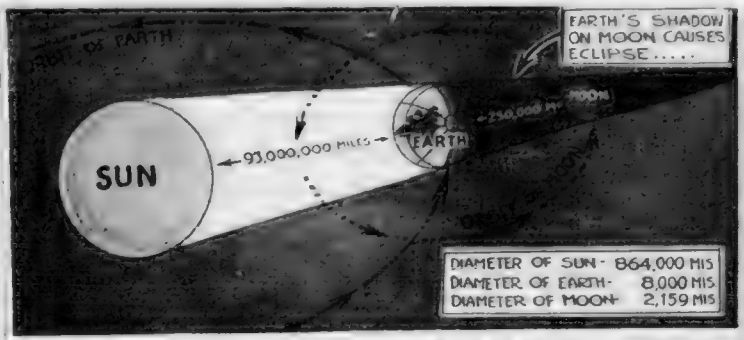
When the dark side is turned directly toward the earth we see nothing and speak of the "new moon" phase. When the part turned toward us is made up of half the light side and half the dark side we glimpse what we call the "quarter moon."

If the earth happens to pass between the sun and the moon—as it will tomorrow night—it cuts off the light so that the sun's rays cannot illuminate the moon at all. The moon is then in the earth's shadow.

But just before the moon goes into the shadow it will evidently turn fully illuminated half toward the earth. For it will then face both the sun and the earth almost exactly.

For this reason lunar eclipses always occur at the time of the full moon. If the moon happens to pass the earth's shadow without eclipse—there is a full moon without an eclipse. If it happens to enter the shadow partially we have a partial eclipse.

If, as will happen tomorrow, it passes entirely within the shadow we see a total eclipse.



How Moon Will Pass Within Full Shadow of Earth in Spectacular Sky Show

Wives Fight Working Ban

Their number reduced to 13 by the resignation of two, Somerville's "working wives" today planned a vigorous battle against Mayor John Lynch's campaign to rid the city payrolls of married women.

But they were puzzled by the absence of any official order regarding the mayor's intention of ousting them unless they resigned. The two resignees will sever their connection with the city [illegible] when they receive [illegible] pay.

The ban is a campaign pledge from an ordinance passed by the city council barring women whose husbands are gainfully employed from working for the city. Mayor Lynch announced those women who refuse to resign would be given a hearing.

200 Solons Due Here Tomorrow

More than 200 Congressmen, representing virtually every state in the Union, will arrive here on the New York boat tomorrow morning to obtain some first hand information about New England and her needs.

The group will breakfast at the Parker House with Mayor Tobin and attend a luncheon given by Governor Hurley at the Hotel Statler.

The group will visit the historic spots at Faneuil Hall, the old State House and T Wharf in the afternoon. Tomorrow the congressmen will split up with one group visiting Lexington and Concord and the others going to Saltfish Downs race track.

Speeding the Ruin!

The Editor Says:

The artist accurately depicts the Labor Relations Amendment to the New Merchant Marine Bill as a bigger, better and more efficient axe for the destruction of the country's commercial fleets.

Passed through the United States Senate, this amendment rejects Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's wise suggestion that Congress establish a labor mediation board to function in the maritime field according to fair methods that have maintained peace for years in the railroad industry.

Instead, it favors Secretary of Labor Perkins' theories and sets up a mere board of consultation with NO EFFECTIVE POWERS to adjust labor disputes or to impose penalties.

If the bill becomes law in its present form, the Senate will have placed itself in the deplorable position of turning its back on the nation's needs by bowing not only to the discredited National Labor Relations Board but also to Harry Bridges, of AUSTRALIA, and permitting THEM to remain in charge of the AMERICAN Merchant Marine.

YOUTH PROBLEMS are slated for official attention in Massachusetts. The Senate has passed a resolve authorizing the creation of a special commission to learn why our young people are not as happy as they might be.

In all probability, this group of well-meaning men and women will do considerable looking and spending in the next six months. Finally, they will return to Beacon Hill with the suggestion that something—heaven knows what—"really ought to be done."

WHY WASTE TIME? Why not be honest with ourselves and with our sons and daughters? We can't eat promises. Neither can they.

Youth wants jobs, decent wages and an opportunity to live as free individuals in a free country. There are no substitutes.

We think Senator Arthur F. Blanchard of Cambridge had the right idea when he gave the Senate this excellent advice:

"I am against screwy reforms of adults who try to tell young people what to do and how to act. They would spend their time more profitably if they did something to end this depression and to give boys and girls the opportunities their parents enjoyed when they were starting out into the world."

MENTAL TESTS FOR ALL—that was the suggestion of Dr. Kenneth J. Tillotson, eminent psychiatrist, who recently addressed the Boston session of the Academy of Dental Science. Of course, the examination would be voluntary.

[illegible] cannot be enthusiastic. We concede Dr. Tillotson's motive. We admit his plan would do much to eliminate [illegible]. But we find it impossible to imagine one of our friends [illegible] for the feeble minded and saying: "I think Jo[illegible] [illegible] over."

It [illegible] true, no mentally wrong person ever [illegible] for an asylum. Like the man in [illegible] to say: "Martha, the whole world is de[illegible] except you and me. And sometimes I think YO[illegible]"

The Political Parade

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 13.

EAGERNESS to take short cuts, to gain immediate ends at whatever sacrifice of tried institutions of American government, has been one of the chief characteristics of the Roosevelt regime.

The President's demand of his rubber stamp Congress that it create for him a rubber stamp Supreme Court is the most striking case in point.

The reorganization scheme of the Brownlow Commission is another case in point.

It proposed to abandon the control of Congress over the government, and turn it over to the President, who in turn would delegate his powers to somebody else—perhaps to the very Brownlow Commission which had cooked up the scheme in the first instance.

* * *

IN TIMES gone by, whenever Congress undertook a revision of the tariff, business and industry slowed down pending the outcome.

For four years now—not merely four months—business and industry have been in a perpetual state of fear and paralysis, as Mr. Hull in secret has negotiated a series of tariff-revising treaties, under a power delegated by Congress to the President, by the President to the Secretary of State, by the Secretary of State to Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law, Mr. Sayre, and by Mr. Sayre to heaven alone knows what obscure tinkerers and "experts" tucked away in hidden cubicles of the department.

All this dismay to business, the apprehension in every mill and factory, largely contributing to the depression, has been due to the New Deal device of cutting across lots to reach its objective, disregarding every obstacle, INCLUDING THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

* * *

IF YOU listened to the address delivered Sunday night by Mr. Harry Hopkins, the greatest spender since the dawn of time—an address designed to win support for the new spending spree—you heard the news that State Socialism is now the form of government of the United States.

Every man is ENTITLED BY RIGHT to a job, and if he can't find one it is THE DUTY OF THE GOVERNMENT to give him one.

The theories of Harry Hopkins have quietly superceded those of Washington, Hamilton, Madison, Jay, Franklin and their fellow patriots.

Our short-cut Congress swallows the doctrine, and it is applauded by a lot of punch-drunk sycophants at the Capital who are in such a confused state of mind they can't tell the difference between Jeffersonian Democracy and Marxism.

Show More Gumption, Tufts Tells Students

The way Dr. L. W. Collins, Placement Bureau director at Tufts College, looks at it, the colleges themselves are to blame for youths' bewilderment when the time comes to get a job.

Dr. Collins is pretty definite on this point in answering the question as to opportunities for collegians graduating in the class of 1938.

By PAUL WHELTON

Boston Evening American staff Writer

Students in liberal arts colleges of America are allowed to sail blissfully through four years, aimless, rudderless and magnificently vague as to goal.

Then, when life's door opens with graduation day, they stand hopeless and bewildered—unable to accept the challenge of an economically unsound world.

At least this is what Dr. L. W. Collins, director of the Tufts College Placement Bureau, has experienced in his long dealings with students; what he is experiencing now when he interviews 50 students for one job.

"I don't know where they are all going to get jobs," he said. "Even if I had more jobs in my files, I should be embarrassed to send up some of my well-meaning boys and girls.

"I BLAME THE COLLEGES! VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE IS IGNORED IN PRACTICALLY ALL OUR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

"Even with jobs scarce, with specialization a prime requisite for a 'break,' our liberal arts colleges let the student sail blissfully through four years.

Dr. Collins

"Then they come to me in May or June with vagaries about 'some kind of executive work' or 'some kind of electrical engineering job on a railroad.'

"GETTING A JOB IS A SALES PROBLEM AND IT HAS THREE SALESMANSHIP ESSENTIALS—SOMETHING TO SELL, A MARKET FOR THAT SOMETHING, AND A METHOD TO SELL IT.

"They are desperate for jobs, yet they do not know how to seek them and are frightened by the competition and the challenge of an economically unsound world not interested in college graduates.

"Many of our students believe, because they are in engineering or other scientific preparation, that their purposes are crystallized. We discover that they are not.

"One boy, as an example, spends four years at INTENSIVE ENGINEERING WORK and then decides he would like PERSONNEL WORK IN ENGINEERING OFFICES.

"I KNOW MEDICAL STUDENTS WHO ARE STUDYING MEDICINE ONLY BECAUSE THE FOLKS AT HOME THINK IT WILL ELEVATE THEM UP A FEW NOTCHES IN THE SOCIAL SCALE.

"They also hope it will elevate the son to marriage into a so-called better family.

"The percentage of medical students who fall by the wayside is alarming. Shortly before graduation, with good scholarship records attained, they balk and leave suddenly. The reason given to this office: 'MAYBE I'D LIKE TO DO SOMETHING ELSE.'

Dr. Collins believes that a recession, instead of stirring the lassitude of the average graduate, has frightened and disconcerted him.

"Seniors from Tufts College, men or women," he said, "get jobs in one of three ways.

"They get them by accident, by influence, or rarely—by intelligent, logical effort to find the most suitable type of job.

"JOBS ARE SCARCE AND WHILE MANY OF OUR GRADUATES ARE RELUCTANT TO THINK OF SELLING AS A CAREER, THEY FAIL TO CONSIDER THE FACT THAT SELLING YOURSELF IS THE BEGINNING OF A JOB."

In Dr. Collins' belief, the ULTIMATE life goal of a student should be decided upon in the early days of his collegiate life.

Each step he takes thereafter should be in the direction of that goal, even though there may be some deviations along the route.

"It is IMPERATIVE," he asserted, "that colleges give more attention to vocational adjustment.

"It is ABSOLUTELY IMPERATIVE that the liberal arts colleges teach students to think ahead, to plan their futures, to know what they can do best.

"OUR JOB HERE AT TUFTS IS TO MAKE THE APPLICANT THINK OF THE JOB HE IS GOING TO HAVE ULTIMATELY. WE CALL IT THE LAST JOB.

"The student is advised that, inexperienced, he generally goes out of college with only his education, his work history—if any—and his personality, as assets.

"We attempt to teach boys and girls METHOD IN GETTING CONTACTS and in solving their individual problems.

"Each student is trained for a specific line, or along the line of his tendency or his preference, which, if followed scientifically, results in eventual success.

"I THINK OUR COLLEGE GRADUATES WOULD SHOW MORE GUMPTION AND MORE CONFIDENCE IF VOCATIONAL CONSULTANTS WERE INSTALLED IN THE STUDENTS' FRESHMAN YEAR AND WERE CONTINUED RIGHT THROUGH TO GRADUATION.

"Then, perhaps, there would not be this bewilderment and hopelessness that greet me when I interview students for one job for 50 students.

"I repeat that the present-day college graduate, while desperate for a job, DOES NOT KNOW HOW to seek one and is frightened by the competition and the challenge of a world which, under present conditions, definitely is not interested in college graduates."

Tomorrow, the Boston Evening American will present another in this series of interviews with New England college officials.

Girl About Town -:- by Ann Marsters

SUBWAY SCENE—It is, somehow, quite touching to see the stenographers on their way to work these days, carrying a few blocks for their desk or perhaps for the boss's desk.

STREET SCENE—A small boy stood on a corner with his father. They have had a conversation regarding through his instrument the little boy with a puzzled expression on the father with a weary look.

Finally the little boy asked: "What's he doing, daddy?"

"Oh," answered the father despondently, "I guess he's memorizing how much the country's debt is and the United Democrats put a head of it."

The little boy just nodded his head.

We would like to get this O. K. matter straightened out. So here is the latest report:

"Your articles on the origin of O. K. caused widespread discussion in Federal circles," writes Thomas F. Phelan. "Here is the way old-timers explain it:

"During the administration of President Andrew Jackson, there was an Indian chief known as 'Old Keokuk,' who was in charge of the commissary department of an Indian reservation in the Middle West.

"It was necessary for him to approve bills for supplies sent to the Indians, and, instead of writing his full name, he signed his initials, 'O. K.'

"President Jackson noticed the 'O. K.' on the Indian bills and from then on, so the story goes, he 'okayed' various papers with those initials—meaning 'all right.'"

(If any of you noticed the mistake in our Greek, a column ago, we are happy to tell you that it's already been brought to our attention.)

I asked the heaven of stars
What I should give my love
It answered me with silence
Silence above

I asked the darkened sea
Down where the fishes go
It answered me with silence
Silence below

Oh I could give him weapons
Or I could give him song
But how can I give silence
My whole life long?

MRS MARTIN JOHNSON who lectures at the Statler on May 17 is being honored by a window display in Leeds's Boylston street shop.

There you'll see a native hut with palm trees around it, and leopard and zebra skins which Mrs. Johnson herself obtained with the aid of her rifle.

The African dolls are a sample of a native's idea of "portrait painting." Seems they don't paint images of people they admire. Instead they carve dolls to resemble them.

If War Comes -:- by Hugh S. Johnson

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—It was OK for the Secretary of War to warn the dictator countries that, if they keep on violating principles of international law and decency the democracies might get mad and fight them, but it raises a question whether his own house is in order for such an event.

It is petty hard to imagine this country getting mad enough to go over to Europe to spank Mr. Mussolini or Hitler or Stalin—so hard that you can almost say it is impossible. We don't need to be prepared for any offensive war in Europe.

General Johnson

The only likely place in which war could involve us is in the Far East. A war with Japan would almost certainly be a sea war. It would probably be a contest in destroying ocean commerce.

At the present rate of disappearance of the American Merchant Marine, there wouldn't be much for the Japanese to destroy. Our Maritime Commission Act simply isn't working.

Except for what might happen in the Philippine Islands, then a war with Japan would consist of naval engagements and in our Navy chasing the various "Marus" off the ocean.

We do not, therefore, need any large provision of land troops. We need plenty of trained officers, because it takes a long time to educate an officer. We also need a sufficient reserve of equipment and ammunition and, above all, preparation in defense against aircraft.

OUR OFFICER CORPS in the Regular Army is as good as any in the world. The value of the corps of reserve officers may be questioned.

It is in reserve equipment, ammunition and anti-aircraft that the fault resides. We haven't reserve munitions to last a day in a fair-sized battle. Most of this stuff is highly specialized and takes a long time to make.

Types of aircraft change so rapidly that we are not in a position to make planes in mass and couldn't arrive at that ability for a long time.

OUR MOST SERIOUS shortage is in anti-aircraft artillery. This art has advanced rapidly. Such guns are an absolute necessity to the defense of crowded places against devastating air attack.

In this depression and among all the billions we are spending to make work it would be a fine idea to buy some reserves of ammunitions and equipment and several thousand anti-aircraft cannon.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Cordell Hull has been described by The Washington Merry-Go-Round as a man of great integrity, idealism, and purpose, as the man toward whom the Democratic Party is leaning in 1940, and as the most outstanding member of the Roosevelt Cabinet.

Cordell Hull

Perhaps it is forgivable, therefore, if we summarize herewith an argument as to whether or not the Secretary of State is violating the Neutrality Act and a treaty by permitting the shipment of arms to Germany.

Let it be stated in advance that the authors of The Merry-Go-Round ordinarily do not consider it any business of theirs to argue about State Department policy. They endeavor to be reporters, not debaters. But they do make it their business to report important matters taking place in any branch of the government.

And after several days of vigorous debate plus public denials by the Secretary of State, we still are convinced that he has been violating the law in allowing arms to be shipped to Germany.

REASONS WHY—There are several reasons for this conviction, and here are some of them:

A.—The question of possible treaty violation was called to the attention of the State Department one week before publication of our arms charges. (Mr. Hull announced publicly that we had taken him by surprise.) However, his associates had ample advance notice.

B.—Inside word now is that because of present embarrassment there will be a shake-up in the State Department's legal staff.

C.—Mr. Hull himself got a little mixed up in his explanations as to why it was legal for the United States to ship arms to Germany.

CROSSED REASONS—In all he gave three different reasons at different times.

1.—Mr. Hull used the explanation supplied him by his legalists, namely, that although the Treaty of 1921 with Germany provided that Germany should import no arms, there was no obligation to prevent the United States from selling her the prohibited goods. Thus although Germany was violating the Treaty of 1921, the legalists argued, the United States was not.

2.—Mr. Hull maintained that Germany had scrapped the arms provisions of the Versailles Treaty, and since these were the same provisions embodied in our separate treaty with Germany, the United States was justified in ignoring them.

3.—On the day following Mr. Hull brought out a new excuse, namely, that the arms shipments to Germany were infinitesimal in amount (a total of $1,689,095.11 in about two years) and that this was not worth worrying about.

Real fact is that Mr. Hull has been one of the greatest champions of the sanctity of treaties.

He would be the first to admit that there is good reason to keep inviolate the treaty of peace with Germany. For that treaty contains, for instance, German guarantees to respect the graves of American soldiers in the Rhineland.

It contains pledges that American shipping can use the Kiel Canal and certain German rivers.

It contains provisions for payment of damages suffered in the famous Black Tom explosion and other sabotage by German agents in the United States before this country entered the World War.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ALL THIS recent argument about Babe Ruth's Mama's right to free baseball tickets there's something more than mere words and sentiment behind it.

Consider for example the well known case of Mother Gregan Bernstein and son Jackie Bernstein.

"Jackie" the rate boy, is required to have and has never questioned anything [illegible] right to a cent. In short, Jackie Bernstein possesses certain [illegible]. Every dollar and every dollar's worth of time Jackie has represents [illegible] per cent of his parents' savings.

Surely this seems an amazing statement from one who professes a passion to relieve her quota of social maladjustment. Yet [illegible] the idea as now written in to her [illegible] and attitude.

And, even more oddly, millions of other mothers seemingly fair and fearless by nature will applaud these sentiments.

Elsie Robinson

They may admit that Madame C. B. is perhaps just a teeny weeny bit too frank in her technique but nevertheless they believe as firmly as she does that a child and his well being is the mother both by human and divine law.

And no matter how much she gets [illegible] darling.

So firmly entrenched in this theory is the mother conviction that the one who dares defy it—be he Judge, Editor, Cop, Communist or plain Pupa—might as well go jump in the lake before he's pinned—as it's a cinch he will be—by outraged females armed with [illegible] writs, petitions, subscription cancellations, recall petitions and feminine hatpins.

BUT WHY should the ladies be so positive on this particular question? Why should they resent any attempt to trample on their "maternal rights" with such Self-Righteous Indignation?

For, make no mistake, most mothers ARE sincere in their belief that Junior and Sister are their rightful reward . . . their heavensent compensation. And hands off—or else!

Whereupon the average male will wring his hands and wail—"Reward . . . compensation . . . but for what?

FOR BEING A WIFE, BROTHER!

FOR "WASTING THE BEST YEARS OF HER LIFE" AND "WORKING HER FINGERS TO THE BONE" FOR YOU 'N' THE KIDS!

But don't fathers work too?

Don't fathers also sacrifice their boyish beauty and Stud Poker to keep the home fires going?

Silly Question No. 9826! Of course they do. But T-H-A-T'S different.

Fathers are men. And it's a man's duty—in fact his privilege—to crawl in under the yoke and start pulling.

But Mothers! Mothers are WOMEN. And everyone knows that women suffer 'n' suffer 'n' suffer.

But why the sufferin'?

WHY'S IT ANY HARDER FOR A MOTHER TO DO HER SHARE THAN FOR A FATHER?

WHY DOES SHE RATE ALL THESE SPECIAL HONORS 'N' HALOS 'N' BE-YOO-TIFUL POEMS ANY MORE THAN HE DOES?

THAT SHOWS just how much YOU know, you horrid brute! If you had a heart in you, you'd realize that marriage is just One Long Martyrdom for Women.

WHY? Never mind why! It just is—that's all.

Of course, a Mother usually manages to bear up with a brave smile. But all the time she knows darned well she's been Done Dirt Generally.

SO WHY SHOULDN'T SHE GET A LITTLE COMFORT IF SHE CAN? AND WHY SHOULDN'T HER CHILDREN BE TICKLED PINK TO EARN MONEY AND HAND IT OVER TO DEAR, DARLING MAMA, TO KEEP FOREVER 'N' EVER?

For—lookit what she's done for them! Yes, indeedy! LOOKIT WHAT SHE'S DONE FOR THEM!

March of Events

By BENJAMIN DeCASSERES

SWITZERLAND arms. That's news! Switzerland has always been a symbol of peace—an asylum for all the political fugitives in Europe.

Nevertheless, Switzerland for a thousand years has had literally dozens of civil wars but she has been comparatively free from international upsets.

Now, however she is bordered by two land-hungry countries that make mincemeat of treaties. Germany and Italy.

Switzerland with a population of 4,000,000 can raise about 500,000 fighters at a push.

Her greatest danger at present is the Nazi propaganda going on among her population with German roots. Nearly two-thirds of the Swiss speak German.

If these Teutons ever raise a Henlein and pull a Sudeten on Switzerland, that will be a black day in the long history of a brave little country.

DR. CHARLES HURLINGAME, psychiatrist, of Hartford, Ct., holds some sound views on the difference between loading our brains with knowledge and living—which is the real business of men and women it seems to me. He says:

"We can see with increasing clarity that through the centuries man's knowledge has increased astonishingly. Techniques of learning have been perfected and methods of distribution of knowledge have improved tremendously, but education in the way of knowledge and the ability to appreciate [illegible] have not increased. The [illegible] of [illegible] seem to indicate that the best possible training for [illegible] is [illegible] education in living."

The Greeks for instance didn't know all that we know but the people knew better how to spend the 24 hours of the day with the joy of life.

Your I. Q. means very little. Your ability to laugh and still preserve a degree of serenity is worth all the facts you can learn.

Sees Farmers 'Waking Up' to Peril of Deal

Special to Boston Evening American

CALDWELL, May 13 — American farmers are just waking up to the double peril of [illegible] and [illegible], declared Edwin [illegible] members of the Union League Club were told today by Stanley E. Morse, executive vice president of the Farmers Independence Council of America.

Just returned from Macomb, Ill., where the corn belt farmers marched a [illegible] against New Deal policies, Morse told the American Wake Up meeting that the eyes are facing from the farmers eyes.

"They are learning that administration policies are dictatorial and that someone in Washington is really running their farms," he said.

"No man can be aroused to a situation until he feels it personally, and so when the owner of 160 acres of corn land is told to plant only 50 acres, he realizes he cannot feed his stock and have something left to sell."

He added:

"Another alarming threat to the liberty of the farmers is the recently inaugurated drive of racketeers, wearing the labels of the Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor, to unionize the farmers."

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

Lotions Vitalize Skin

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU KNOW [illegible] you can't get along without something to [illegible] a new man in the offing, or a Cuba [illegible] dressy dessert for an afternoon . . . then [illegible] how could you expect your skin to [illegible] pampered with lush cream [illegible] glowing [illegible] that shines in your eyes!

[illegible] a bath [illegible] that [illegible] face [illegible] kerchief [illegible] awe [illegible]

You [illegible] before but chances are that you're trying to [illegible] up the [illegible] cream [illegible] with the through going clean-up job performed by a lotion. More choked pores, more muddiness is the lot of skins whose owners firmly believe to be thoroughly cleansed. When a light, almost invisible coat of cleansing cream is left the toll on perfection of texture is fairly overwhelming.

A thin, light textured skin can be made to look like exquisite porcelain with the help of a special lotion. It is one of two that deal with separate problems and are wonder-workers in their lines!

The first brightens and tones and stimulates to just the right degree the sensitive, dry skin which usually is overwhelmed with creams and loses its clarity. The second is for coarse pores and relaxed tissues. It stimulates and tightens a flabby complexion, at the same time eliminating the blackheads inevitable with such a condition.

These lotions are to be used every day. If your skin need it, try using your lotion before as well as after application of cleansing cream.

For the names of the stimulating lotion for dry skins and texture lotion for coarse skins, both designed to bring back a young clearness to muddy skins, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American.

Grow Long Lashes

DEAR ARLINE: I am 18 and what I want most [illegible] long eyelashes; I could cry, mine are so short. Do you know anything that will help?—Sis, Bridgewater.

DEAR SIS: Don't cry, baby! In a golden whirligig of a case, no bigger than an inch high stack of quarters is a brand new eyelash cream and darkener that will present you on your 19th birthday with winkers appreciably longer, thicker and glossier! It's a cute gadget that whirls out just enough to apply for every-night use, or a smidge to use in the day time. This makes them look twice as long immediately! The case is chichi enough to carry along with your lipstick. Phone me at LIBerty 4000 for its name, or write inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Reeve-Swift Bridal in Trinity

By BETTY ALDEN

All the trends are toward asking Eleanor Swift if she intends to have her fingers crossed . . . to hear the sweet solemn pax of Friday the 13th . . . when she stands before the altar of Trinity Church this afternoon to become the bride of Lawrence Lowell Reeve . . .

Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving and Rev. Spence Burton are officiating at the Reeve-Swift wedding one of the most socially consequential nuptials of the spring season . . . with representatives of many aristocratic families of the East witnessing the ceremony and later congratulating the bridal couple at the reception at the Chilton Club . . . The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift of Commonwealth avenue and Mrs. Reeve's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Reeve of Brookthorpe, Haverford, Pa. . . .

A profusion of Easter lilies on the altar form a dignified and fragrant setting for the ceremony and Mr. Swift is giving his daughter in marriage . . . Her beautiful gown of shirred tulle with tiny puff sleeves of matine with ruffles has a voluminous skirt and her veil is held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms resting just above her bangs . . . Butterfly orchids and lilies of the valley are combined in her small shower bouquet and in place of gloves she is wearing crystal bracelets which were made . . .

Bride's Two Sisters Among Attendants

HER SISTERS, Mrs. Ethel Van Nest of Chicago and Lucile Swift, are wearing ice blue organza gowns for their honor roles in the bridal procession and the bevy of attractive bridesmaids are wearing similar frocks of pale pink organza . . . The bridesmaids are Mrs. James Brewster Weld and Peggy Hardwick of Boston, Mrs. Courtney Hayes, Polly Wardwell and Marie Swift of Chicago, Katherine B. Reeve of Haverford, sister of the bridegroom, and Jane M. White of Baltimore, a Vassar classmate of the bride . . .

J. Stanley Reeve, Jr., of Penn Boro, performs best man duties for his brother, and the corps of prominent young men serving as ushers includes the bride's brother, George Swift, Jr., Theodore Seed of Hackensack, N. J., Barrington Johnson of Newport, Archibald Thomson, J. Rosengarten, Pa., Lawrence R. Houston of Charlottesville, Va., David E. Gross of Kansas City, W. Emlen Roosevelt, son of the bridegroom, and Pemberton McElvaine of New York . . .

Following the reception the bride will change into a dusty pink traveling gown and start the first leg of a honeymoon trip to Europe. After October 1 the couple will be at home in Devon, Pa. . . . The bride, a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club, attended the Winsor School, Brookline, and Vassar College . . . Mr. Reeve prepared for college at Milton Academy and graduated from Harvard in 1935. He is a grandnephew of President Emeritus A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard . . .

Vincent Club Elects Officers

Mrs. H. McB. Parker Again President

Politicians are wary of many election ties we are told but Vincent Club officers who were up for re-election at the annual meeting yesterday came through with flying colors in spite of the downpour and practically every Vincent member turned out for the occasion to sway the elections In the Summer and the boys in singing a lusty serenade to Mrs. Henry McBurney Parker who was re-elected president.

Mrs. George Bemis was again chosen first vice president and chairman of the annual musical show which job does not give the president and chairman of the show's program book falls to Lea Barbour who captured the prize for selling the most advertisements for the program at the musical show. She succeeds Mrs. Alfred N. Hallowell (Olga Morgan) who has just become the mother of a baby girl. Friends are rejoicing that A. F. Hallowell is showing marked improvement on his recovery from serious injuries sustained in a fall at Harvard's Fly Club back in February.

* * *

Mrs. James Parker, 2d, will handle the Vincent publicity for another season and other plans for the coming season are Charlotte Rantoul secretary, Jane Meginnis treasurer, Ellen Moseley and Mrs. B. Davis Tay or members of the executive committee.

The luncheon was a regular reunion of old friends. Marion Lee Barlow was in from New York for a visit before she and her fiancé bridegroom move to New Orleans. Desmond Lockwood Vaughan (Mrs. Norman) another of the Vincent set that loves society and is from Troy here for the afternoon for keeps but numerous friends that she and Norman have left behind in Boston.

* * *

An artful few of just who at the luncheon were Mimi Lee in lavender tweeds with Corsage Masters and Dorothy Mae Vincent, Mrs. John Parker in black for last minute appearance in navy blue ensemble with navy pink trimmings on her white Leghorn. Lydia Wentz Fox, Delphi Du Pont Ingle in a shirtail ramp ape she swapped across the Country Club lawn from the parking space and Anne Motley's bright hair tweeds worn proudly by a white terrier pup.

Future Bride Honored

Norma Freeman of Jamaica Plain entertained at a shower and buffet supper recently in honor of Mary Goode of Jamaica Plain whose wedding to John Gately of New Haven is slated for June 11 at St. Bernard's Vincent Church.

The evening's hostess was attractively dressed in rose with navy accessories. Mary was expecting plenty in bridal showers and received many lovely gifts.

Among the servers were Mrs. William E. McNulty of Jamaica Plain retiring president of the Arlington Club, Mrs. William Murphy, Mrs. Walter Toole, Dot Haggerty, Betty McDonald, Mrs. Leonard Oster, Helen Regan and Jean Hansford.

Mrs. Joseph Smith Visiting New York

Bostonians enjoying brief vacations in New York City include Mrs. Joseph Lester Smith wife of the prominent artist who is now sitting at the Marlboro before going for the summer to their home in Dublin, N. H.

Mrs. Crawford Whitman, Mrs. William Gibbons Rantoul of Salem and Mrs. Robert Ames of North Easton, are also visiting in Gotham. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coolidge of Chestnut Hill are spending a few days at the Chatham Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Channings Wells of Southbridge are also in New York.

RETURN TO NEWPORT

Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown of Newport and Boston are returning to their Newport Villa today following visits in Baltimore and Richmond, Va.

Constance Fights Tears and Remorse

CHAPTER 29

"What happened to you with Gordon would have happened to any girl, I think. Any small town girl," Mrs. Darby said consolingly. "You weren't weaker or more susceptible, Constance. You got into the deep. But any girl in this town in your circumstances, any attractive girl, who worked with Gordon as you did, would have had the same experience. You're young and human and he's different from the men and boys you've known."

"You're trying to make me feel better about it but I still don't excuse myself. But at the time I thought I was so perfectly right. Now I know how wrong I was. Now I can see the kind of life I'd have had with Gordon and people like Irene and Avis Bailey. Avis is saving him from himself."

She turned away with a sigh. "I'm going upstairs. I'll be ready when it's time to go to the Howards." But she looked back and smiled. "You're pleased about tonight, aren't you?"

"We're all one family. That's why I'm pleased. Not because they are the Howards but because Rosalind is married to and loves their boy."

From her bedroom window she looked at the leaves falling and remembered how she had prayed that the summer would not be over.

Again shame and regret chilled her. She and Terry had looked at each other across years of friendship and companionship, across years of laughter and tears, and then, when their love had grown, they had the same dreams in their eyes. They wanted the same things. They spoke a common language. Words were unnecessary.

How well she knew how he loved the sea. Instead Texas, with its boyish and boisterous laugh and strong hands and clean cut features.

HAUNTING MEMORIES

And she was remembering their last moment but his thoughtless, the dear tender way he had with her and how he said "My sweet girl." Terry. Was he now sacrificed on a football field whether women men fight in that crash today?

She thought. There's so much to remember and it all comes back now. Years and years to remember and pulled down the curtain so that she could not see the leaves.

Later she dressed in a green dress with a thin gold belt. Her mother's face was happily flushed when Constance came downstairs with a long blue velvet wrap over her arm. Ruth was wearing a black gown and a corsage of gardenias.

Matt Darby grumbled with a grin, "I hope we don't have to get dressed up like this every time we go to the Howards. Too much fuss and trouble."

His dark eyes, less fierce than usual turned to Constance. "Your mother tells me you're not going to marry this Keith fellow after all. Never approved of him in the first place. Glad you've come to your senses."

A HAPPY FAMILY

Ruth said, "Oh, come on, Matt. Let's be going."

"You just want to show off that new dress."

"Not the dress but the gardenias that you sent, dear."

Wearing coral colored velvet, Rosalind sat in a deep chair in the Howard living room and Van sat on the arm of the same chair and held her small hand. They had eyes for no one but each other. Nina and Ruth were both animatedly about flowers. Stephen was asking Matt about first editions which the latter had been collecting for years.

Only Mrs. Lady was here, Constance thought. Only her body in a green dress. Her mind was searching and seeking Terry tonight. As was the many miles that were falling between her the girls went to bed.

"Tonight I owe you and need Mr. Terry. What can I do? I'm so helpless. The waves I can't hear to see. Bedroom window. Could hear to see because I thought when I saw them, fall again, we'd be [illegible] waves.

"A [illegible] we said. A [illegible] and a house [illegible] and [illegible]. And now that [illegible] I don't [illegible] know [illegible] with [illegible] furniture [illegible] I've [illegible] it as a [illegible] I knew exactly how I wanted it."

Stephen Howard chuckled. "Yes and the day they broke the ground about a week ago, those two kids looked so darned solemn about it. You'd have thought they were going to have twin tears any minute. Rosalind and Nina keep their heads in magazines and samples of chintz and wall paper are all over the house."

IT HAPPENED!

The telephone rang and small, brown haired Nina went into the hall. When she returned, she stood still in the center of the rug and looked at Constance.

Her husband asked, "Something wrong, Nina?"

Constance knew. To relieve the tension quickly, she said, "Somebody has just told you that Avis Bailey and Gordon Keith were married today. I knew about it."

They were feeling very sorry for her. Rosalind put the plans of her beloved house on the table and said, "Come upstairs with me, Constance. Will you excuse us, please?"

Good Manners

SECOND MARRIAGE

DEAR MRS BEECKMAN:

Is it good form for a widow who is marrying a divorced man to have a formal wedding "complete with [illegible] bridesmaids [illegible] wedding was held [illegible] near here recently and I have been wondering about [illegible] to my own wedding [illegible]

Everything [illegible] whether it's [illegible] in her home [illegible] and correct, and it can be very charming.

To be in the best form the wedding of a widow should be planned very simply. It should not be planned so that the word "elaborate" could be used to describe it. The bride should not wear a bridal veil or orange blossoms. She does not have [illegible] but she may, if she wishes, have a maid or matron of honor. Usually she wears an [illegible] and hat, often she wears a [illegible] dress [illegible]

Signs of Bone Disease

"PAGET'S DISEASE" is a strange and unusual affliction. A victim of this disorder suffers from certain changes in the bones. It leads to [illegible] of the long bones and [illegible] changes in the flat bones of the body.

The disorder is rarely seen in young people. It affects those who [illegible] age or later years. For some unexplained reason men are more susceptible than women.

Strange as it may seem, the disease may exist for several years before the patient becomes aware of it.

In the early stages of the disease the sufferer may complain of no more than stiffness and discomfort [illegible] or other [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Ban Against 'The Man From Cairo' Sought

NEW YORK, May 13—French Playwright Yvan Noe of Paris, through his agent, has a working a ban today forbidding further performances of the stage play, "The Man From Cairo," which opened May 4 at the Broadhurst theatre.

Noe, 42, has sued Vestel, alleging that Producer Michael Todd adapted "The Man From Cairo" from Noe's novel and portrayed him unfavorably.

The original Noe opus, Vestel says, has been "suppressed and misinterpreted in the American version and has been given a 'suggestiveness' and 'sexiness' which [illegible] author."

"I went to a New York performance of 'The Man from Cairo,' Vestel asserted, "and I was shocked.

Yvan Noe is a French writer of high moral standing and dignity. He feels that continuation of 'The Man from Cairo' cannot be permitted, lest it be linked with his name.

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WHEN A MAN IS JAILED in Massachusetts for non-support, his family has been provided for (after a fashion) by payment of 50 cents a day to wives, and 25 cents a day for each child . . . The city or town of the man's residence is charged with these items of support . . . Boston authorities have just awakened to the fact that the law has been changed . . . On April 14, an act was adopted by the legislature amending Chapter 519 of the general laws "relative to the payment of certain prisoners confined upon sentences for non-support and certain other offenses" . . . It cost Boston $45,000 last year to "support" families of this type of prisoner . . . When the amendment to the act becomes effective July 14 (90 days from passage), the welfare boards of the various cities and towns will have the responsibility of these cases . . . And the upkeep will be much more costly.

"I want the gown to be of chartreuse crepe, with a great, sweeping dog-leg of some ivory-white material, and I want the whole piece with black," ordered Designer Alex . . . The magazine followed instructions and Woollcott was so pleased that he closed the incident by writing: "Mrs. Mallory's gown is superb. Would you consider designing me a pair of trousers?" . . . Austen Lake Says

Schmeling Leaves for Valhalla in the Woods

EARLY NEXT SUNDAY MAX SCHMELING starts his last long journey toward Joe Louis. It is a trek which leads to ruin or riches. Three miles beyond the farm town of Speculator, N. Y., along a rutted logger's road and under a leafy ceiling, Max will come to a cluster of rustic lodges. It is a hermitage in the heart of a wildwood and beside a picture postcard lake where the chipmunk frisks, the trout leap and the hills tumble away in layers of purple mist. The only sounds will be the sighing of the wind, the honk of geese flying north, the squeak of wood mice and the thump of Max-ie's heart. There, until an amphibian plane calls to carry him to his rendezvous on June 22, he will sleep, eat and examine his thoughts.

AUSTEN LAKE

Max is suited to sylvan solitudes. He will not fret as Max Baer fretted at the same spot two years ago before being battered to a bloody pulp by Louis. Baer was eaten with unease. He hated the mountains and the night hush. He hated the whisper of the leaves and the nourishing air. The russet's and [illegible] of autumn, the frisking ground squirrels, the leaping fish and the perfume of wood-mould and balsam. He hated these, too. What he missed most was crowds, the hum of street traffic, the tinkle of highball glasses, the semi-nude floor-show of the night clubs and the leisure and liveried montagues. For Baer was a [illegible] of nerves and imagination.

Schmeling abhors crowds. His mind is near to nature. And where Baer was oppressed by Speculator's Eden and haunted with doubts like a small boy about to go to bed in a dark attic, Schmeling is as stolid and unemotional as a cow. At Napanoch, N. Y., before beating Louis, he was like a man who had purposely dimmed down the light of his intelligence to a mere candle flicker. He thought single thoughts, like a succession of sausages, instead of Baer's incongruous mess of unrelated ideas, like a mental chop-suey.

He Hid In a Farmhouse

SCHMELING HID AWAY, EXCEPT FOR training sessions, in a little farmhouse with Max Machon, his confidant and conditioner, a German chef and two troopers in mouse-gray uniforms. The public was halted at the lodge gate. The newsmen were admitted by appointment and shooed away after brief visits.

For [illegible] Schmeling at Napanoch the newsmen were [illegible] earaches and once he exploded, "Fide, fide, noddings but fide. Most I see men and [illegible] der fide all times. Now I rest und [illegible] dress odder." Apparently he had the knack of [illegible] a barkeep would shut off a beer spigot.

So Schmeling won't be gnawed by inner doubts, as Baer had been at Speculator in September of 1935. Then the Negro's name had been constantly on Baer's tongue in a tone of querulous whining instead of defiant prediction. "Wot'll Louis do if he can't tag me, huh? Suppose I sting him with a long right, eh? How do we know he can take it. Maybe he can't go over ten rounds." It was a fear fixation in which he sought to reassure his doubts by the sound of his own voice. But at Napanoch, Schmeling said simply, "I fide goot, maybe I fools sompodies, yah." He did.

At [illegible] Schmeling demonstrated that he would never be [illegible] by [illegible]. And, indeed, the pressure is [illegible] Louis [illegible] The ten champion is sure to be [illegible] by [illegible] Baer [illegible] man mind does not purge itself of a [illegible] [illegible] on his jaw, the wrinkles in his [illegible] [illegible] when he knelt at the ring ropes and [illegible] [illegible] As [illegible] of Eugene O'Neil a Negro [illegible] Louis may be [illegible] by shadows [illegible] creator.

All Three Have Been Bums

BEFORE THE LOGIC-LULLING THUMP of the publicity drums begin their rhythm, let me go on record. I insist that Schmeling is starting six weeks preparation to be knocked cooler than an Eskimo pie. A lot of editorial salt is bound to be tossed over the fight writers and sob-sisters before the June 22 big business. For we who travelled to Napanoch two years ago, went to bury Schmeling, not to praise him, and [illegible] haven't forgotten our licking either, nor are we eager to swallow another mess of pre-match opinion without seasoning the dose [illegible]

[illegible] Schmeling a better [illegible] [illegible] a broken [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MR. BOSTON

Mayor Tobin Picks Louis | Champion Wins in Poll on Fight

By JACK CONWAY

YOU MAY put Joe Louis' number up on the board if you wish to take the opinions of a majority of those persons who attended the Night Sports Final party of the Boston Evening American at the Club Mayfair. Max Schmeling will have to be satisfied with place, according to the vote of those persons who signed ballots distributed by Doc Morris.

Mr. Boston

Doc has been a ballyhoo artist in the camp of various heavyweight boxers. He first worked for Tex Rickard and then later went along with Bill Carey at the Garden and he now does odd jobs for Mike Jacobs. Doc is in Boston as publicity director for Ina Ray Hutton, and decided that the boxing poll would be a distinct aid to swing music.

Glancing down a list of names submitted to me by Doc I find that among those who predict a Louis kayo over Schmeling are Mayor Tobin Pat Hanley, Jack Malloy, Attorney General Dever John T. Lambert, Tom Thorp, Lieut. Gov. Kelly, Jack Sharkey, Al McCoy and State Auditor Buckley.

Denny Shute and Art Ross went on record for Louis to win the decision at the end of 15 rounds.

Included among those persons who picked Schmeling to stop Louis were District Attorney Foley, Jim Linnehan, Paul Bowser, Mortimer Mahoney and Jack Kenney.

I am not going to pass over Jack Kenney's opinion lightly. When Barney Ross and Max Baer were first gaining national attention Jack suggested to me that I pick Barney Ross to defeat Jimmy McLarnin and Max Baer to stop Primo Carnera. Instead I named McLarnin and Carnera as my choices and ended up talking to myself.

I think Louis will gain favorable opinion in the fans as the time for his title battle with Schmeling draws near. The experts will break each other over trying to help defend his hard wages. Then if Schmeling knocks out Louis again the jockers will not experience a new sensation. They have been wrong before.

Schmeling Discusses Age Question

MAX SCHMELING has been discussing the matter of his age with boxing writers in New York. Her Max is supposed, while Louis will be 24 years old on Saturday.

"A man," says Schmeling, "is no older than he feels. Gene Tunney was 31 years old when he successfully defended his world's championship against Tom Heeney. Gene could have continued boxing for three or four more years if he had elected to do so."

Jack Sharkey was 35 years old when he was knocked out by Joe Louis.

"At 33 I wasn't half the fighter I was when I was 28," said Sharkey. "It is all right when you are going forward, but when an old boxer has to go backwards his legs don't respond properly. Boxing is a game for young men. I like my fighters under 30."

Schmeling insists he is as good a scrapper now as when he stopped Louis two years ago.

"And for two years," says Max, "Louis has been thinking of the way I knocked him out. He may still be thinking of my knockout punch when he enters the ring at the Yankee Stadium on the night of June 22.

"Louis may start off in our next bout using a different style, but once he gets hit he will revert to his old style. You cannot change fighters much."

Roller Skates Derby

IF YOU are anxious to witness some new tricks I suggest that you attend the Roller Skates Derby of the Boston Evening American at Avenue Louis Lachut on Lagrwood avenue and Fays Stadium on Saturday.

George W. Gorman, boss man, he has received the entries of 500 youngsters. The youngest person to apply was Lois Fraser three years old of No. 1571 Beacon street, Brookline.

Leo LeBel of Worcester, and Vera Vonmeister from, Meriden, Ct., who appeared in a barrel jumping act with his dad and sister at the Silver Skates Derby, will try and prove he is just as efficient in roller skating competition.

There will be races at 1 o'clock by Johnny Marks, Belmont, Pauline Dicker, Medford, George Kerney, Allston; Joe Jacobs, Somerville, and Walter Kearney, Dorchester. It should be a grand party. Don't miss it.

WEATHER conditions at Suffolk Downs yesterday were the poorest they have been at the East Boston track since racing was [illegible] in Massachusetts . . . The [illegible] connected the track into a sea of mud while the heavy rain made things very uncomfortable for those brave souls who risked their health to see the thoroughbreds run . . . The poor weather has been a keen disappointment to Joe Cronin, who is anxious to keep the Red Sox in action now they are in a winning [illegible] . . .

11 Nominated For $70,000 Turf Classic

BALTIMORE, May 13 (AP)—Eleven three-year-olds, one of them a filly today were entered for the $70,000 running of the $75,000 Preakness at Pimlico tomorrow.

The only surprise was the entry of BULL WHIP from Donald Ross Brown's stable of Williamsburg, Va. There was some doubt, however, whether the son of Bull Dog would answer the call.

The list included five which trained in the Kentucky Derby—William Duncan Jr.'s DAUBER, Mona Sons's CAN'T WAIT, Warren Wright's BULL LEA, Hal Price Headley's MENOW and William Woodward's FIGHTING FOX.

Completing the field were ANAFLAME, filly and stablemate of Fighting Fox A. G. Compton's SUN FIRE, Townsend B. Martin's CRAVAT, Rex Ellsworth's HYPOCRITE and DAR HE, a stablemate of MENOW.

In addition to Bull Whip, no jockeys were listed for Dan Headley's Anaflame. Doctor Headley trainer of Dan He said he had hopes of securing Charley Kurtsinger and James Fitzsimmons was looking around for a capable rider for the filly. He had his eyes on Harry Richey.

Jockeys on the other horses remained unchanged. George Woolf and Raymond Sonny Workman on Fighting Fox, winners of the classic will be up on Can't Wait and Meadow Stable's Wedgewood won with Bull Venture two years ago and Workman scored with Victorian six years ago with Can't Wait in 1932.

Jimmy Stout will pilot the Fox; Irving Anderson on Bull Lea; Maurice Peters on Dauber; Al Shelhamer on Sun Fire; and Jack Westrope on Cravat.

With the prospects of fair weather and a fast track Dauber remained the favorite with Can't Wait, Menow, Fighting Fox and Bull Lea rounding out the field behind.

It will be for the richest three-year-old stake ever run in this country.

Some Catch

Anderson Lands Big Salmon

Irving Anderson of Granby street, Quincy, has gone and done it again. This time at spot about on company with George Perkins, fishing in the Sandy L on Marshfield landed a five pound six ounce salmon while fishing for striped bass.

Just a year ago the Little accomplished the same feat except that the fish was a trifle smaller. Both anglers were using a small trout spinner and say wonder for the when they made the catch.

It's hardly the waters of this area are freezing themselves of perch, which is a welcome bit of news to fishermen of the Cape and surrounding towns.

Blind Eagle Rates Call In Suffolk 'Cap

By DAVE WILSON

"Selections for Fast Track"

BEST BET—MOTLEY 7TH RACE

SUFFOLK DOWNS, May 13 — Blind Eagle, a stretch-running foal absolute scorn to a popular victory over small rivals appearing here in the $5000 added Commonwealth Handicap, six furlongs feature here tomorrow.

Motley was placed in the seventh shapes up not only as a remainder but also as the day's most probable winner.

FIRST RACE

Sir Rose, Light Cruiser, Manda's Baby

SIR ROSE is dropping down Hayes Bierman's charge displayed plenty of early foot in a recent route affair and this abbreviated route should prove right to measure. LIGHT CRUISER, second to Gold Thorn, shapes up slightly better than Manda's Baby and unfit for MANDA'S BABY is recently third to Fair Time.

SECOND RACE

Very Busy, Miss Hollywood, Evening Time

VERY BUSY is well placed Bright Sea in his season at the busy American filly figures to jog MISS HOLLYWOOD dubbed less capable rival in her last. EVENING TIME shapes up next best.

THIRD RACE

Mixwell, Fast Express, Victorious Ann

MIXWELL is worthy of another chance. Harvey Campbell's charge encountered no end of interference in his last start. FAST EXPRESS, second to Porcellus, should outstay VICTORIUS ANN. The latter has been idle since Tropical Park, but several brisk trials indicate fitness.

FOURTH RACE

Night Raven, Thumbs Down, Sun Asia

NIGHT RAVEN is the speed of the party. On recent speed figures he figures to take the track and hold away throughout the journey. THUMBS DOWN was dead-heated in his last start with Mitey Myerson. The increased yardage of this affair will be greatly in his favor and he looks all over the main dare.

FIFTH RACE

Blackbirder, No Sir, Passport

BLACKBIRDER is back in old time form. Nosed out by Finance in last Saturday's Governor's handicap, the Fanfare Farm's ace should not take "no" for an answer. NO SIR might have beaten Orinoco in his last race but for lugging in badly in the stretch drive. PASSPORT figures well if you can toss out his dull performance in the race won by Orinoco.

SIXTH RACE

Blind Eagle, Battle Jack, Be Blue

BLIND EAGLE will have to turn tables on BATTLE JACK. The latter troubled the top section by one full length in their most recent meeting at Havre De Grace. BE BLUE won her last easily.

SEVENTH RACE

Motley, Red Raider, High Tension

MOTLEY needlessly to run back to his last race. The Fanfare colorbearer zoomed a mile and seventy yards over dull track in 1:43 2-5 and has shown his relief passed. RED RAIDER seemed to be off sorrow in last race shapes up best. Then comes Jupiter High Tension.

EIGHTH RACE

Ptolemy, Pepper Patch, Addine

PTOLEMY is a former stake horse. Although idle since midsummer of last year, the L. E. Ogle colorbearer has worked well enough to win at the first asking. PEPPER PATCH and ACTDINE shape up as named.

B. U. FACES N. H.

DURHAM, N. H., May 13—The varsity baseball nine of Boston University, after suffering four consecutive defeats, will attempt to get back into playing form when it meets the University of New Hampshire Wildcats here today.

Yankees Snubbing Di Maggio

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A little quiet investigation reveals that there is a certain amount of truth to the report that Joe DiMaggio is getting the chill from some of his Yankee teammates because of his prolonged holdout this spring, but it doesn't seem to be anything to worry about.

It was to be expected that some of Giuseppe's companions would resent his playing hookey from the training camp, and there is no doubt that they let him know about it in a quiet way. Yet there seems to be no danger of any personal fireworks that could affect the team's pennant chances.

In fact, says an informant from the inner Yankee council, the feeling against the youthful slugger is nothing to what it was a fortnight ago, and as predicted that if Giuseppe keeps on powdering the ball everything will be hunky-dory again very shortly.

LITTLE COLLEGE SPIRIT

Nobody ever had uncovered a big league ball club where there wasn't a little dissention. It isn't necessary for the shortstop to speak to the second baseman socially to make them a highly effective combination. The Yankees always have been a big, high-salaried set of individuals who thrived on smacking the ball rather than on college spirit.

It is rather obvious that Joe has been put through a course of sprouts. During pre-game practice he mostly sits silently in front of the dug-out, only now and then chatting shortly with a teammate. He doesn't talk much with the writers because he feels they didn't back him up in his salary argument with Colonel Jake Ruppert, who, incidentally, has been sick abed ever since the day Joe finally signed.

REAL BALL PLAYER

Watching Joe play now, without his having had any serious training, you realize that he is a tremendous ball player, destined in time probably to rank with Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker. There is no mistaking his nobility when he swings on a ball or when he takes a fly with his long, space-devouring strides. Something stamps him a player apart.

Some already are wondering what will happen a few years from now, if DiMag should develop into a super-star.

Straight Shooters Always Win

To the sharpshooters of Richmond Academy, Augusta, Ga., goes the honor of winning the William Randolph Hearst five-man unit rifle trophy in the national intercollegiate class. Left to right, they are: Lieutenants Balk and Fulmer, Colonel William E. Jakes, Jr., Captain Abner L. Covar and Lieutenant Hains. Each member shot 975 out of a possible 1000 points.

4 for Wilson

Dave Wilson, king of handicappers, came up with four winners at Suffolk Downs yesterday despite the fact that rain resulted in a sloppy track.

He had Brogan, winner of the first who paid $6.60; he named Whooper in the fourth who returned $6.80; Patchpocket lived up to Dave's prediction and netted $5.80, while Silent Shot captured the sixth to pay $5.80.

In the second race, Wilson's top choice, My Auptie, placed to Hi-Vic, whom Dave had to run second.

Jacobs in Move to Save Title Fight Gate

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Max Schmeling, the widely celebrated friend of the Nazi leaders in his native Germany, will be swinging his punches at least partially in behalf of refugees fleeing from those same Nazis when he meets Champion Joe Louis for the world heavyweight title here on June 22.

Ten per cent of all the profits he can help to pile up for Promoter Mike Jacobs on the million dollar spectacle will be donated to President Roosevelt's recently organized European refugee aid committee, Promoter Jacobs announced today.

The immediate result of this maneuver came out of the headquarters of the anti-Nazi league, whose officials immediately decided to hold an executive meeting tomorrow to decide whether to lift a boycott which already has been launched against the fight.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, Jacobs specified that the amounts he will donate will be, in his opinion, not less than $7500, or 10 per cent of the $75,000 he hopes to pocket for himself on the bout.

Lynch Invents New Golf Club

Steam lined golf clubs, joint creations of player Joe Lynch and designer Barrat Davison who used a 60-year-old club as a model stirred new hopes today for par scores in the hearts of Massachusetts duffers.

Features of the new clubs, expected to go on the market next year, were:

Streamline design with the heel of the club removed to lessen resistance to the club head in playing the ball off the fairway.

Addition of sleds, small pieces of bone, to the front and rear of the club, to aid in easier sliding of the club through the grass.

Lack of metal or screws in the head of the driver which carries the weight high up in the shaft to offset "whip."

Non-skid grip, composed of narrow leather strips cemented in a spiral design around the shaft before the regular grip is wound on the club.

Galento Has 40 Pound Advantage

NEW YORK, May 13 (INS)—Tony Galento, Orange, N. J., bartender, will have a 40¼ pound weight advantage in his 10-round heavyweight bout with Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fans Rally To Diz's Side

CHICAGO, May 13 (INS)—Jerome ("Dizzy") Dean, the walking clinic of baseball, had about 400 different formulas for taking that $185,000 kink out of his pitching arm today—and wasn't using any of them.

Since Diz went into a month's retirement following his acquisition by the hopeful Cubs, he has received an average of 20 letters a day from well-meaning persons generous with various pet cures. Muscle specialists and others even have penned high-pressure notes begging for a chance to usher Dizzy back to health.

Dizzy's orders from Manager Charlie Grimm were to serve a two weeks' stretch in complete idleness and then do two weeks reconditioning his flipper.

Wright Tells Of Golf Thrills

This is the sixth of a series of highlight experiences in the careers of outstanding New England amateur and professional golfers.

By FREDERICK WRIGHT, JR.
(Mass. Amateur Champion '20, '26, '28, '29, '30, '31,)
(New England Amateur Champion '27)
AS TOLD TO WALTER KILEY

Apropos of the sailing of Captain Francis Ouimet and his United States Walker Cup team for England this week, I am reminded of a singular experience of mine in this international competition back in 1923.

Fred Wright

We were playing then, as now, at venerable St. Andrews, and I finished the morning round two down to Ernest Holderness, British amateur champion.

An American, Guy Standifer by name, had come over from Portland, Ore., a friend of our Doc Willing, and was riding Willing and me for letting a couple of Englishmen beat us.

I got a bit hot under the collar after a while and bet him that I'd not only beat Holderness in the afternoon round but I even went further in my wrath and told him just how I was going to do it.

I predicted that I'd come up to the last hole all even and then get myself a winning birdie.

Strange as it may seem, I was two down and three to go, then won the 16th and 17th, leaving the decision to the last hole.

I had forgotten my promise to Standifer until I reached the 18th tee. Then it dawned on me. I realized then if I didn't make good my threat my fellow countryman would make life miserable for me.

GETS BIRDIE

We both got long drives down the middle. His second was 12 feet past the pin. I played a pitch and run through the gulley and a foot and a half below the cup.

Holderness missed his putt and I sunk mine, just as I had foretold. Standifer was first to push through the crowd and congratulate me. My point decided the victory in favor of United States, 6½ to 5½.

My biggest recent thrill in golf came the other evening when I played for the first time with my 13-year-old son, Fred, 3rd.

I had been told that he had toured Trapelo in 105 strokes a week earlier, only the second time he ever tried the game. But it was to my dismay—and inner delight—that he honestly beat me on Trapelo's fifth and ninth holes.

I remember my first trip to England in 1921 and the wonderful feeling I got when I beat the great Johnnie Ball, six times British amateur champion, by a score of 4 and 3.

The match was played before the largest gallery I ever saw in golf, some 20,000 spectators stampeding us. We had to battle every inch of the way.

Back in 1924 I played some 50 rounds with an average score of 69. One week I had a 64, two 66's and two 68's, on a course where the first $10,000 Los Angeles Open was held in 1928, with the lowest card turned in a 68.

I got myself the 64 in company of George Von Elm. Willie Hunter, British champion, and a couple of other fellows. Von Elm and Hunter both shot 68. I almost holed out on the ninth. As it was, I was out in 30.

Needless to say, I won myself a few bobs.

Tomorrow—Tony Manero.

Tennis Slam, Budge's Goal

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—A grand slam in tennis, something not even Big Bill Tilden achieved in his prime, is the goal of Don Budge.

The California redhead, in town with the world's foremost tennis armament, confessed he cherished an ambition to become the only player in history to hold at one time all four titles—American, British, Australian and French.

Budge has a fair start, for since last July he has captured the championship of the United States, Great Britain and Australia and now would like to add the French crown to his trophy room.

If he competes in the French tourney, Don should be a heavy favorite. The French have some fair young players but no one capable of extending the redhead from California.

Mrs. Helen Moody In Final Round

LONDON, May 13 (AP)—Helen Wills Moody easily defeated Sheila Paterson, 6—2, 6—2, today and entered the final round of the North London tennis tournament.

The veteran Californian's rival tomorrow will be Mrs. E. S. Law who won from Miss F. S. Ford, 6—4, 6—3, in the semi-finals.

Henley Races On Charles

Boston's greatest nautical offering in many years is set for tomorrow when the American Henley regatta and a quadrangular crew race featuring the freshmen, junior varsity and varsity eights of Harvard, Syracuse, Cornell and M. I. T. are to be held in a huge water festival on the Charles.

The highlight, of course, will be the varsity brush, in which Tom Bolles' Harvard crew will attempt to retain its unsmirched record against the powerhouse eights of Cornell and Syracuse.

However, the American Henley regatta, which starts at 11 o'clock and continues right up until the college freshman eights anchor at the stakeboats, at 4:00, will be a magnet, particularly for the old-timers.

Tom Bolles

Many historic trophies will be rowed for in the Henley offering, all of the races being over a mile and five-sixteenth course. The Puritan Cup for "quads," the famed Steward's Challenge Cup for first eight-oared shells, the Schuylkill Cup for doubles and other equally interesting heats will make the day a banner one in naval circles.

Harvard's great varsity will get a severe test. Cornell is rated just about on a par with Harvard, while Syracuse lost only by a matter of 60 feet in a mile and three-quarters Compton Cup race on Lake Carnegie last week.

The freshman race will give Harvard's eight another rugged pull, since Pat Manning's Tech boatload measured Princeton's boatload a week ago.

Robert Set for Title Go

Yvon Robert, former world's heavyweight champion, amazed onlookers with his speed and fine physical condition in his first public drill yesterday at Jerry Buckley's gymnasium in Friend street.

The Montreal youth appears even more fit than when he registered a cleancut victory over clever Lou Thesz of St. Louis here recently. He looks ready now to meet Steve (Crusher) Casey, the champion, but will continue doing daily work to remain that way for his important battle with Casey at Boston Garden next Thursday night, May 19.

Yvon Robert

Robert attributes his superb condition to the few weeks he spent at Camp Maupas in the Canadian wilds. "That's the place to get in shape," Yvon said yesterday, after his drill. "You do not have any conveniences. All you get is hard work outdoor, plenty of sleep and good plain victuals. It is a rugged life and anybody who lives it is bound to get in fine condition."

Robert, still a youngster of 24 summers, appears to improve as time moves on. He is in much finer condition, smarter and speedier today than at any time when he was champion of the world. Not owning the title erases a lot of worry from an athlete, too.

55 School Games on Tap

Schoolboy baseballers have their busiest day of the season this afternoon with some 55 games scheduled . . . Two dandy track scraps are also on the card with Brookline at Newton and Melrose at Winthrop . . . Don Enoch's potent Garden City spikemen should take the Wealthy Towners on the Dickinson Stadium saucer . . . By the bye, the Newton cindermen haven't lost a dual meet in well over a year . . . After being handicaped in the quadrangular meet, Frankie Hines is expected to be back in form again . . . When Frankie is right he's a sure-fire winner in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard run.

That Essex County track meet scheduled for the Lawrence stadium tomorrow should be an affair well worth attending . . . With most of the schools in the county entered, the competition will be keen throughout the matinee . . .

Sox Boss Fears Nats

The American League is a wide open race and any one of six teams, with a little luck in keeping its lineup intact, can win the pennant, said Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox.

"It won't be all Yankees this year," said Joe, "for if we all gang up on them there's bound to be plenty of fun before the shooting is over.

"And watch the Senators, they have a good punch and have unearthed a pitching sensation in Emil Leonard, while adding the slugging of Zeke Bonura. So I repeat, watch Washington!" Detail Story on Page 44.
